IMPLEMENTS AND AUTOS TOO LOWState Tax Commissioner Wolcott Says Valuation on Them Will
Have to be Raised Here.

ASSESSORS MEET TODAY

Wolcott Also Complains of Assessment of Horses in Ripley Township Being Too Low.

According to Eben Wolcott of the state tax board, who was here yesterday for a conference with County Assessor Schrader automobiles and farm implements in Rush county are being assessed too low. He told the county assessor that Rush county was below the average of other counties and advised that conditions be changed or the state board would take a hand.

This information was imparted to the township assessors today when they gathered for their second meeting with Mr. Schrader. It was pointed out that the assessors should have no trouble assessing automobiles. A rule has been adopted and is generally followed that automobiles will be assessed by allowing $100 depreciation each year. The assessors have the blanks from last year and can readily see what the machines were taken in at last year.

Outside of the automobiles and farm implements, Mr. Wolcott was well pleased with most of the assessments. He had a kick regarding Ripley township. The report examined by Mr. Wolcott was for the first ten days and if this is to be taken as a criterion for the whole period of assessing, he declared Ripley township would be raised by the state board.

The complaint against Ripley township was in regard to horses. Mr. Wolcott stated that the township either had a poor bunch of horses or else the assessor had been fooled. The assessment for the period of ten days showed that Ripley was $20 lower than any other township in the average assessment of horses. The horses in Ripley township average only $60, and Mr. Wolcott and Mr. Schrader are both of the opinion that this is too low.

In Jackson township the horses average $105, and Mr. Schrader believes that Ripley has just as good horses as Jackson. At the meeting today the township assessor of Ripley township was asked to go back over the ground and see if he could not get a higher valuation. The assessment could be changed by the county board, but as this always requires much time, it was thought best to let the assessor change the figures.

THREE YEARS AGO TODAY WATER
FLOWED THROUGH STREETS HERE

Three years ago this date Rushville was in the throes of the worst flood in its history. Because conditions this week were strikingly similar to those of three years ago many predicted that there would be a repetition of the calamity of 1913, but it does not seem likely.

On Sunday night, March 23, 1913, a tornado swept Terre Haute with a loss of twenty lives and a property damage of one million dollars. The tornado dipped down again at Omaha, Neb., dealing out death to two hundred and injuring five hundred.

Slight effects of the tornado were felt here in the form of a heavy gale, but trouble did not being for Rush county until the next day. On

VISIONS OF "LOST" TRAIN

Employees of Big Four Use Phone to Locate Passenger.

Employees of the Big Four office here had visions of a "lost" train this morning. The southbound passenger was reported out of Carthage at 7:44. A half hour elapsed and the train had not appeared. They telephoned as far as Henderson, but none had seen the train pass. Inquiry was made by phone at many farm houses along the line. Finally, the train pulled in more than an hour late. The boiler of the engine had been choked and stalled the train.

MARTHA BROWN
DIES AT AGE OF 94Mother of A. C. Brown of This City, Expires at Her Homes in Milroy
Friday Evening.

FIVE CHILDREN SURVIVE

Mrs. Martha Brown, 94 years old, widow of the late James B. Brown and mother of A. C. Brown of this city, died last night at six o'clock at her home in Milroy. Mrs. Brown had been ill for several weeks and her death was expected. Senility and a complication of diseases caused her death.

Mrs. Brown was born in Butler county, Ohio, October 24, 1821, and was brought to this county by her parents when six weeks old. She lived in Milroy or the immediate vicinity all her life and was well known and highly respected woman. She is survived by five children, A. C. Brown of this city, R. N. Brown and N. N. Brown of Anderson township, and the Misses Emma and Anna Brown, who live at home.

The funeral services will be conducted Monday morning at 9:30 o'clock in the United Presbyterian church in Milroy by the Rev. Mr. Wiley and burial will take place in the Milroy cemetery.

GOT EXCITED.

Evansville, Ind., March 25.—John Brown, tailor, was blessed by the arrival of a big girl. He was so pleased over the stork's gift that he forgot to pay for a load of coal that came the same day. Brown was discharged in city court when the judge learned the circumstances.

Robert Vredenburg is ill at his home with la grippe.

The condition of Charles Rasor is gradually improving and his recovery is expected. He is able to sit up a few hours each day.

RESPONSIBILITY

Save Souls of The Lost

NEED OF SYMPATHY SHOWN

No Picture is More Sad Than Lost Soul, Says District Superintendent at M. E. Revival

"One touch of nature makes the whole world kin," and there is no touch of more feeling than sympathy. No gem shines with such lustre as the tear down virtues manly cheek for another's woe. No picture is more sad than a lost soul. Lost does not apply to the other world only, but to this world as well. I shall talk tonight for the soul and the love for the immortal part of man."

Taking for his text, Psalms 142:4, the Rev. C. E. Bacon of Connersville, district superintendent preached last night at the M. E. revival on the value of sympathy, our responsibilities to one another and to God in saving souls. The Rev. Mr. Bacon filled the pulpit on account of the illness of the Rev. W. M. Whittsitt. Music preceded the sermon and consisted of a solo by Miss Mary Louise Bliss, a solo by Clarence E. Lane and a number by the Junior choir. Announcement was made that the regular services will be carried out tomorrow. The Rev. Daniel Ryan of Glenwood will preach in the morning and Dr. Bacon at night.

"No man careth for my soul," are the words uttered by David when pursued by Saul. His own men had forsaken him and he was seeking refuge in a cave. This is the picture of a man who feels he stands alone without the aid of human sympathy and it is only one of the lonely pictures of God's book. I want to talk of a sympathy keen and alive, with an interest in men's souls." With this beginning, the Rev. C. E. Bacon cited instances of the sympathetic figures in the Bible, beginning with Jeremiah.

"Jeremiah is often called the weeping prophet. He saw calamities that were to befall the people of Israel, but with his affection and sympathy, he stayed with them. Paul is another sympathetic figure in the Bible. We can see the controlling passion that filled his heart. He was willing to be outwardly rejected if thereby persons might come nearer to God.

"No picture is printed more intensely than that of Christ weeping over Jerusalem. It deserves an angel's pen to describe the pathos of this scene when Christ looked out over Jerusalem and realized it was to be razed to the ground.

"Every worth-while character in history shows this human sympathy too. Bunyan said he could not be content unless he could see and feel the fruits of his preaching and know he was saving souls for Christ. Dodridge, the author of a number of hymns said that one soul was more valuable than mountains of gold and silver. John Welsh was found weeping once because he said he had 3,000 souls to account for.

"And yet we say 'Am I my brother's keeper?' The answer comes in the words 'Thy brother's blood cryeth unto me from the ground' We try to avoid the responsibility, we blame the preacher, the preacher blames the choir and the choir blames the congregation. Let us take more responsibility. Parents are not content until they care for the physical needs of their children,

CORRESPONDENT ON VESSEL

Says Two of Twelve Americans
Known to Have Been on Board
Are Believed to be Lost

By JOHN H. HEARLEY

(United Press Staff Correspondent who was aboard the Sussex when she was struck).

Boulogne, (Via Paris), March 25.—Two of the twelve Americans known to have been aboard the Channel liner Sussex believed to have been torpedoed in crossing the channel yesterday afternoon are missing and believed to be lost.

They are Elizabeth Baldwin and her father of Philadelphia.

Three American passengers agree that they saw a torpedo.

It is estimated that fifty of the 380 passengers lost their lives, though it is possible some were picked up and taken into other ports.

The Sussex left Folkestone shortly after noon under excellent weather conditions and was nearing the French port of Dieppe when she was struck. I was conversing with other Americans among my fellow passengers when an explosion suddenly shook the whole ship.

One of the Sussex life boats was blown off by the force of the explosion and splinters sent hurling high into the air. At the same time a fountain of water dashed over the side of the ship.

Washington, March 25.—The Dominion liner Englishman has been torpedoed. The time and place were not given by American Consul Armstrong in a cable to the state department today.

Thirty-three survivors were landed at a northern British port. Four Americans are believed lost.

Washington, March 25.—The submarine issue with all of its grave possibilities once more faced the American government today. The Mexican situation was relegated to the background.

Torpedo attacks on the Sussex and Englishman lead Washington officials to fear that another violent submarine campaign had been started by the central powers. This belief has been growing for days.

Secretary Lansing acted quickly, sending orders to American representatives abroad to cable all facts.

New Traffic Post at Main and Second Weighs 550 Pounds.

The automobile that hits the new traffic post at the corner of Main and Second street will undoubtedly come out the worse for the adventure. The new post was erected this morning. It is made of cast iron pipe and is filled with cement. This combination makes the post weigh 550 pounds. The posts used last year were too light and they were frequently run over until they were finally destroyed. The council at the last meeting advocated a heavy post and if the one just erected proves satisfactory others will be made.

RUSH COUNTY BOY
HELD FOR FORGERYExpected Case Against Arthur Bever, Held in Connersville, Would be Settled at Once

FATHER GOES TO HIS AID

Connersville, Ind., March 25.—Arthur Bever, a young Rush county farmer, is under arrest here charged with forgery. He is alleged to have forged a check for a small sum on Frank Hay, a bartender at the McFarland hotel saloon. The amount of the check was not given out.

John W. Bever, father of Arthur Bever, and Chauncey Duncan, his attorney, went to Connersville this afternoon, being called there by the trouble related in the above dispatch. It was expected that the difficulty would be adjusted without much trouble and the charge against Bever dropped. Frank Hay formerly resided here.

DIVORCE MATTERS
TAKE COURT'S TIMEJudge Thomas M. Green Grants Divorce to Donald Webb Against Jennie Webb.

GWINNUP CASE DISMISSED

Divorce matters occupied the attention of Judge Thomas M. Green in circuit court today. The case of Donald Webb against Jennie Webb was heard and a divorce granted upon payment of the costs. He alleged cruel and inhuman treatment and accused her of being intimate with other men. The defendant defaulted.

Mrs. Mary I. Doyle was given the sum of $4 a week support money from William F. Doyle. The defendant was not in court. The divorce was granted some time ago and this was a hearing for support money. He is said to reside in Newcastle. The plaintiff asked for $5 a week, but the court made it $4.

The divorce suit of Mrs. Minnie B. Gwinnup against Dora Gwinnup was dismissed by Mrs. Gwinnup upon a written motion. Mr. and Mrs. Gwinnup are living together again.

The funeral services of James Gray were conducted by the Rev. E. B. Seofield at the late residence near Henderson Friday afternoon. Among those in attendance were Mr. and Mrs. Thomas A. Gray of Charlottesville and John Gray and son of Westland.

DECLARES VILLA
HAS BEEN FOUNDGeneral Gavira Says Bandid Chieftain is Hidden in Center of Santa Clara Canyon.

HE HAS 200 MEN WITH HIM

Military Officers Believe he has Escaped Trap, However—Bandits
Set Town on Fire.

(By United Press.)

El Paso, Texas, March 25.—General Gavira at Juarez stated to the United Press at noon today that American cavalry under Colonel Dodd had located Villa and his main force in the center of Santa Clara canyon. United States troops were close upon Villa's rear guard, according to Gavira.

Gavira's statement renewed hopes here that the pursuers might close upon the outlaw and bring the man hunt to a sudden, successful close.

Villa has 200 followers with him, Gavira said.

The bandits were located about thirty miles from the western entrance of the canyon, which is a short distance east of Namiquita and in a wild district without roads or trails.

Villa has escaped the trap formed by combined American and Carranza forces near Namiquita. With a large number of his followers the outlaw was believed today to have reached the San Miguel country. Military officials expressed this belief when reports of a battle between American forces and Villa could not be confirmed.

Villa has scattered his forces. A small number of his men may have been surrounded in the Namiquita district from which reports persistently come that the American expedition is closing in on bandits.

Another group of Villistas set fire to Janos, north of the American base in Mexico.

Reports of Villistas again crossing the border into New Mexico and killing two American women and one man were unconfirmed and uncredited.

By H. D. JACOBS

(U. P. Staff Correspondent.)

With the American Army in Mexico, Field Headquarters, by wireless to Columbus, N. M., March 25.—"This is the hard winter of 1916" in the American army.

After more than a week of blazing hot days and cold nights, the cyclonic winds swept off the Sierra Madras to the west, carrying sleet, snow and sand and causing intense suffering among the members of the American expedition sent out to punish Villa.

The driven sands caused the most intense hardships though the men who shivered in the cold and winced under the biting wrath of the sleet storm.

Miles S. Cox ran a nail in his foot at his home Friday night and was unable to be at the Peoples Loan & Trust company, where he is employed, today.

SCHOOL HEADS BLAME MOTHERS

Says Parents Neglect Primary Health Rules

That many school children are being allowed to become chronically constipated through parent's oversight, is a startling fact brought to light by recent investigation by school authorities. Hastily snatched meals so that there will be more time to play, the use of ready-to-eat cereals, and the general neglect of the call of nature are given as principal causes.

It is the duty of mothers to see that children attend to the call of nature before going to school.

However, a laxative is sometimes needed, and this should be the old reliable, healing, natural vegetable treatment for constipation—castor oil—the old remedy that doesn't form a habit.

In the new jellied form known as CASTOR-JELL it is easy to take. CASTOR-JELL is simply 94 per cent pure castor oil, whipped into jellied form and with a delicious orange flavor added. On sale at F. E. WOLCOTT'S drug store. The Castor Products Co., Cleveland, Ohio. (Advertisement)

the attacks on the Sussex and Englishman have been made by U-boats was plainly evident. President Wilson and Lansing gave evidence that if the worst is true there will be but one course to follow. It can be stated authoritatively they will regard the assurances of the central powers as to future conduct of the sub-sea warfare as hollow protestations.

Official comment was refused. The first details will be awaited. Those details should reach Washington Monday or Tuesday.

NEW YORK FASHION NOTES

BY MARGARET MASON

(Written for United Press.)

Priscilla doesn't give a rap For wraps of any sort; Yet everyone is wearing wraps; They're Fashion's strongest forts. To still be chic, escape a cape And give a sacque the sack, Priscilla solved with much finesse, Also a great deal of tact.

Indeed, she's doubly fashionable, Yet not a wrap she bought— Her brow is mantled with a blush And she is wrapped in thought.

New York, March 25.—Shawl I or shawl I not? That's the present sartorial question. The Spanish flavor in our dressing, the quaint "befo' the war" touches of the hoops and crinoline have called forth from layers of tissue paper and old lavender those graceful fringed squares that wrapped our grandmothers in cashmere and romance. There are exquisite gossamer lace shawls, black or white, for wear with the fluffy ruffles of our summer organdie; lovely pastel tinted crepe shawls with deep silk fringe, as well as the heavily embroidered crepe shawls of Chinese origin. Of course the exotic beauties of the brilliantly embroidered Spanish shawls are in great demand by all that contingent of stunning brunettes who effect long drooping earrings and languorous glances. Even the maid of sports has fallen for the shawl in the shape of the warm merino plaidie of old Scotland. There is such a fad for cunning little capes that it is indeed a determined and square set of feminine shoulders that can escape their lure. Taffeta seems the favorite medium for these fascinating frivolities and most of the capes are ruffled. They are all ridiculously short and inconsequential and therefore coquettish. One of peach color taffeta is simply three tiers of ruffles with another high ruffle turned up around the neck for a collar. Two tiny artificial peaches tied with a knot and long dangling ends of narrow picot edged with old blue ribbon are set at the back of the collar. Another contrasting type is a plain little fitted cape of grey taffeta, rose lined with a ruffling around its shoulder length finish and a roll collar that reveals the rose lining. Then there are the quaint little silk coats and sacques of 1830. Worn with summer frocks they are irresistible. One of apple green faille has flaring bell sleeves and a flaring little peplum edged all about with a quilling of ribbon. Another little basque like sacque of bronze faille is finished in a cording and fastens at the waist line with two tiny oranges. Long coats of faille belted in at the waist line with voluminous skirts and long capes of taffeta for evening wear fully as full as the barrel skirt beneath them add variety to the wrap family. Surely with such an assortment to choose from everyone can be wrapped in her own personality.

Miles From Good Roads.

The farmers of Cook county, Ill., have adopted this good roads motto: "No farmer farther than four miles from a hard road."

It looks like a modest enough slogan. New England farmers, accustomed to good, solid highways within easy reach of nearly every farm, would pronounce it absurd that any road system should leave farms isolated by so great a stretch of undependable soft dirt roads. Many a western or southern community, however, would consider itself fortunate if the Cook county ideal should be realized.

Our country roads in general are a disgrace, and no mistake. And yet their condition isn't surprising, considering the newness of most of the country, the lack of road-making material in so many sections, and particularly the immense distances involved.

There are nearly 2,300,000 miles of public roads in the United States. In 1914, we spent $249,000,000 in improving them. Our total investment in roads runs into the billions. And yet the best we have been able to do, as a nation, up to last year, has been to provide a hard facing for about 11 per cent of our roads.

The European countries that boast of their excellent highway don't spend more money on them than we do—they have incomparably less to take care of, and they have been at it much longer than we have. The United States, too, will have good roads everywhere eventually. The time will come when any community will consider it a disgrace to have any part of it as much as four miles from a hard road.

Fiction and Floods.

Oscar Wilde used to say that "nature is always imitating art." And it does look that way. Last fall, for example, one of the big magazines printed a fiction story about a rain-maker in the Southwest flooding out a town that had never had a heavy rainfall before. And now San Diego, Cal., appears to be obligated to pay $10,000 to a professional rain-maker who agreed to fill Morena dam for that sum—and who claims to have produced the goods. After he set up his shower factory and went to work, that whole region was flooded, and the dam was filled for the first time in its history.

Anyhow, it's evident that fiction has "nothing on" fact. The most absurd story ever imagined usually proves true sooner or later.

The war prophets were saying last year that the war would "set back social reform in Europe for a generation." But it isn't evident that there is going to be any reform in Europe for a generation. But it isn't evident that there is going to be any such effect. England has entered on a vast housing reform plan, calling for the expenditure of $100,000,000 for the erection of better workmen's homes in industrial centers. The belligerent countries may be much poorer after the war, but they are apparently going to distribute what wealth they have the more equitably, and take better care of the workers.

Indications are to the effect that Carranza is nearing the end of his rope. And ropes, you know, are proverbially short in Mexico.

Simplicity, they say, is to be the mode in feminine wearing apparel this summer. Such, too, was the case in the days of Mother Eve.

An European writer advocates the abolishment by law of the marriage relation as a means of increasing the population. It would!

With a salary of $670,000 a year, Charley Chaplin is a living example of the fact that even a fool strikes it rich once in awhile.

Just keep in touch with your neighbor, of course. The absorption of his ideas will serve to broaden your own.

If we keen right on rating this as a good place others will soon be thinking as we do. Give'er another boost!

It is possible, of course, that Pershing may shine in history as the man who didn't get Villa.

The fellow who seeks to kill two birds with one stone often finds that both victims are buzzards.

Tut, tut! Why try to smother a yawn? Just open your mouth and let it swell the breeze.

A wise man sees the handwriting on the wall. The fool sees only a blank.

Following the Flag
in Mexico

In the opinion of the majority of American editors, including even those in Texas who are too near the danger zone to be easily deluded with false hopes, a strong note of optimism is found regarding the Mexican situation.

In THE LITERARY DIGEST for March 25th the leading article covers, in sweeping form, every shade of newspaper opinion on the most pressing problem that now confronts the American people. The article is well illustrated with scenes of the recent invasion by Villa and a helpful map of the Mexican border.

WHY not give your lad the same training?

"When I was a growing lad, and came upon many words in my reading that I did not understand, my mother, instead of giving me the definition when I applied to her, uniformly sent me to the dictionary to learn it, and in this way I gradually learned many things besides the meaning of the individual word in question—among other things, how to use a dictionary, and the great pleasure and advantage there might be in the use of the dictionary. Afterwards, when I went to the village school, my chief diversion, after lessons were learned and before they were recited, was in turning over the pages of the 'Unabridged' of those days. Now the most modern Unabridged—the NEW INTERNATIONAL—gives me a pleasure of the same sort. So far as my knowledge extends, it is at present the best of the one-volume dictionaries, and quite sufficient for all ordinary uses. Even those who possess the splendid dictionaries in several volumes will yet find it a great convenience to have this, which is so compact, so full, and so trustworthy as to leave, in most cases, little to be desired."—Albert E. HUNDRED LEADING HOOSIERS

Joseph A. Wright (con)

Governor Wright was a strong anti-bank man, and vetoed the free banking law passed during his term of office. But the legislature passed the act over his veto and the governor then tried to outlaw the banks by having the courts declare the law unconstitutional. In this he failed. During his term of office Indiana sent its block of stone to be placed in the Washington monument. Governor Wright dictated the inscription which it bears, "Indiana knows no East, no West, no North, no South; nothing but the Union." He exchanged official visits with Governor John J. Crittender of Kentucky, and did much to allay the sectional jealousy between these two states. In 1857 he was appointed minister to Prussia. In 1862 when Senator Bright was expelled from the United States senate, Governor Morton appointed ex-Governor Wright to serve out the term. President Lincoln appointed him United States commissioner to the Hamburg exposition in 1863, and President Johnson re-appointed him minister to Prussia in 1865. He died in Rushville, Ind., March 25, 1916. His remains will be buried in the New York funeral home.

Columbus, Ind., March 25.—The concrete road mania has struck Bartholomew county. Everyone wants a concrete road: Seven or eight petitions are before the county commissioners, all asking for concrete roads. Combined, they would make a total of about 18 miles at a total cost of about $200,000. The interest on the bonds to be issued to pay for the roads would be 4 per cent, according to the auditors' estimate.

but they evade the obligation of a spiritual sense.

"If we could have a record of those in hell, and how they came to be there, some would say wine-cup, some the vanities and vices of society, some the love of money, but would any say they had starved spiritually at their mother's knee? Too many parents depend upon the public education of their children to save their souls and do not exert the tender relations of the home. People do care, you wouldn't be here tonight unless you cared, but you should care 100 times as much. God is depending on you to lead someone to Jesus Christ. It is a pity for anyone to hide behind the frailties of the professed followers of Jesus Christ."

Amusements

The Gem offers a double program tonight showing four reels of pictures. The first is a two reel drama entitled "The Wasp," Vivian Rich is featured and it is said to be a thrilling drama. The second picture is a comedy "A Deal in Indians." George Ovey is featured. The last is a comedy entitled "Billy Van Densen's Campaign." Monday night the feature picture "The Pitch O' Chance" will be shown.

The Princess will show a two reel comedy-drama "Angels Unaware" for the first picture tonight. Ruth Stonehouse is featured and her impersonation of Charley Chaplin is said to be one of the best parts of the picture. The second is a drama "The Lesser Evil." Blanche Sweet, Edwin August and Mae Marsh are featured. The last is a comedy entitled "When Two Play a Game." Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Drew are featured. Monday, matinee and night the feature picture "The Clue" will be shown in which Blanche Sweet is featured.

The Mystic will show the usual four reels tonight. The first is a two act drama, "Blow for Blow." Ivan Christie and Mary Malatesta are featured. The second is a drama "Breaking the Shackles." The last is a drama entitled "When Conscience Sleeps." On Tuesday night the Mystic will show the feature picture, "Inspiration." It is a daring romance of an artist's model and features Audrey Munson, the most beautiful woman in the world. She was selected as the model for the official statuary of the Panama-Pacific exposition.

CHAPLIN BELIEVES FUNNY FILMS SHOULD BE LONG

He Can Not Only Give More Time to Work Out His Effects, But Can Also Produce the Same Financial Return Without Working so Often.

Chaplin's idea is that one of the old-style rough comedies gives absolutely no chance for real effects. When the paperhanger has spilled paste down the back of the dude and somebody has been pushed off into the lake, the comedy has been exhausted. Plays like "The Tramp" open up all kinds of chances for contrasts—lights and shade. He does many things now because he believes "the public wants them so"—and for no other reason.

Chaplin also believes that scenarios will be longer. He is a great admirer of "The Birth of a Nation." He saw that play nearly every week during its long run in Los Angeles. His idea is that comedies will also come to the point where one funny film provides a whole evening's entertainment. "Tillie's Punctured Romance" he believes an example of this tendency.

He has two reasons for wanting to put on longer plays. One is that it will give more time in which to carefully work out his effects. The greatest reason is that he can produce the same financial returns without appearing so often.

Chaplin is of the opinion that it is taking an awful chance with his popularity to be shown in a new comedy every week or so. We see Maude Adams at long intervals—once a year, perhaps, and we are eager to see her. But would we be so keen if we could see her in four or five different plays the same night in the same town?

As Chaplin says, this is a terrific test of popularity.

King Charlie.

In the meantime, however, his popularity continues to increase to a veritable craze. When Charlie Chaplin goes to a summer resort near Los Angeles, it is like the triumphant visit of a king.

It is an open secret that Chaplin doesn't expect to be in the pictures long.

"I want to make all the money I can," he says. "Then, in a few years, I am going to quit. I am going to pass along and let some other fellow have the center of the stage. I have made a bigger hit than I ever thought possible in my wildest dreams. And I am much obliged to everyone for laughing. For the public is the entertainer's court of last appeal."

That Charlie Chaplin is a born actor, entertainer, clown and buffoon, not only while posing before the camera, but from the time he rises in the morning till he goes to sleep at night—generally late at night—is the sum of the opinion of his colleagues at Niles, with whom he worked for months. Some of these actors and actresses, as is the way with stage folk, do not speak very highly of Chaplin's "art," yet all of them recognize that there is some sort of mad genius in the little chap who has made the whole country laugh at his antics. As for Chaplin himself, he stoutly contends that it takes as much conscientious preparation for a comedy as for the so-called higher art.

Now for a few instances to prove the above verdict of his colleagues:

Five or six months ago, the Essanay company decided that Chaplin ought to have a madcap partner of the opposite sex to hurl through his dizzy series of utterly illogical exploits. Chaplin and his managers had the whole field of musical comedy, comic opera, comic dramas and burlesque. The golden megaphone of the Essanay company could summon any one of a thousand or two of sprightly young women with lots of stage experience, praised and petted in public—and funny!

"Let's just put an ad in the paper," suggested Chaplin, scratching his curly poll. "Let's get some new blood in the game."

The following morning there was a small personal advertisement in one of the San Francisco papers, offering a position in the "movies" to a young girl without previous stage experience. During the next week or two, Chaplin looked over more than a thousand fair applicants. The cat was out of the bag. The stage-struck young women of San Francisco knew that Chaplin was looking for a girl to play against him, and the competition became hysterical.

Picked a Winner. Chaplin, unaided, selected one, Miss Edna Purviance, who did not know even the alphabet of the stage business.

She has made good. She has appeared in a number of reels with Chaplin, offering an excellent foil for him. There were some heartaches at Niles, but the work of the new film actress convinced both actors and Chaplin's employees that he knew something about the show business which they had never suspected in one so guileless.

"How the Dickens did he manage to do it?" asked one of the veteran comedians at Niles. "That job of picking a new woman is one of the tricks of the trade which ancient and honorable managers have spent scores of years in mastering."

The selection of Miss Purviance might, of course, be explained as a lucky accident, a lottery chance. But then there is Dick Turpin, whom Chaplin selected for important parts in his reels. Turpin is almost as funny as Chaplin himself and divided honors with him in several film comedies. Here was another instance of Chaplin's astuteness. His ability to pick winners was further shown recently in the selection of Bud Jamieson, with whom the comedian recently became acquainted in San Francisco. Jamieson is big, fat, genial, jolly, and an excellent musician, but he had never been on the stage till Chaplin and his associates invited him to Niles, not for the purpose of entering the "movies," but just to amuse the player folk out there! A sort of court-jester to the jester-royal.

Strength and Power Speed and Stability

IN THIS BIG, BEAUTIFUL CAR, and at a price that is well within the reach of the prudent buyer, you obtain all those essentials—and to a degree you have learned to expect only in cars made and guaranteed by the Reo Folk.

STRENGTH WITHOUT SUBSTANCE is unattainable—impossible. Power without strength in the chassis to hold that power—is useless as well as mischievous. Speed in a car that lacks strength inevitably spells high maintenance cost.

AND STABILITY, LONGEVITY, can only be obtained by a nice relation of power in the motor and strength in the chassis.

THE REO FOLK have been an exception to the rule in that they have never made of Extreme Lightness a fetish. Have never followed it to the extreme—the danger point.

REO CARS ARE LIGHT, BUT not light to the point of flimsiness. (Note that important distinction.)

In THEIR LONG EXPERIENCE they have found extreme lightness to be incompatible with longevity—lasting qualities and low maintenance cost.

WE MAINTAIN that no car of equal power to this Reo Six but made lighter, can possibly endure for as many years and cost as little from year to year to operate and to maintain.

"50 PER CENT OVERSIZE IN ALL VITAL PARTS"—the Reo Factor of Safety—necessarily calls for a few ounces more in those parts and a few (and only a few) pounds more in the total weight of the car. But—

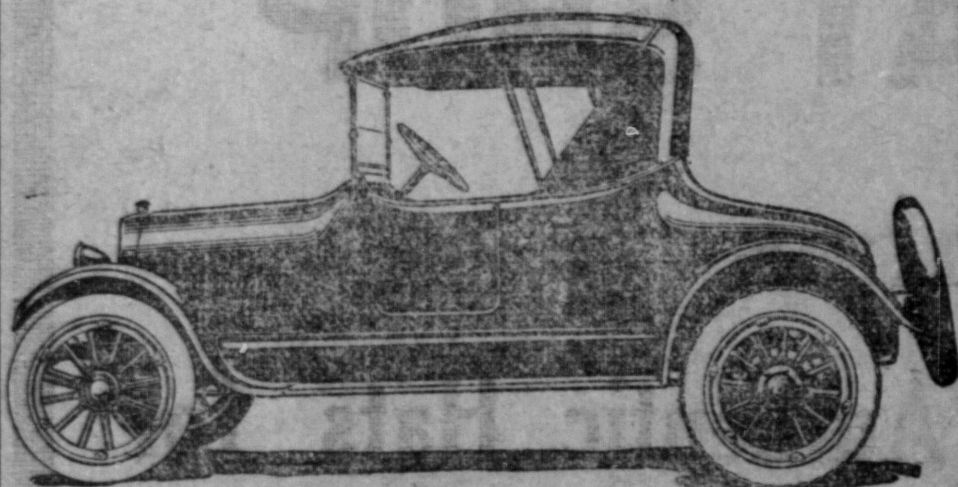

THE DIFFERENCE IN STABILITY, in dependability, in durability, and above all in cost of upkeep and repairs, is out of all proportion to the slight difference in weight between Reo cars and others.

THOSE BUYERS WHO ARE attracted by spectacular performances over brief periods do not select Reos. Those who desire dependability, and consider cost of upkeep, constitute the great and ever increasing Reo clientele.

Coterie Club, with Mrs. C. M. George on Twelfth and Main streets, in the afternoon.

Miss Lucile Linn has been pledged to the Psi Iota Xi sorority.

Monday Bridge Club, with Mrs. Chauncey Duncan in North Perkins street.

The Rebekah lodge number will give a social in the Odd Fellows hall on April 6th.

The dinner-dance which was to have been held next week at the Social Club has been postponed for a week.

The Ladies Aid society of the St. Paul's M. E. church will be entertained on Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. William Mulno, who will be assisted by Mrs. Link Guffin and Mrs. Richard Abernathy.

CLASS PARTY

The members of the Bible class of the Baptist church had a social meeting last evening at the home of John Meredith in North Harrison street. About ten members of the class and the teacher, the Rev. S. G. Huntington were present to enjoy the evening together. Light refreshments were served at the close of the affair.

SUPPER A SUCCESS

With the news that a sum of $65 was made at the Penny supper given by the second division of the Pastor's Aid society of the Christian church last evening it goes without saying that the affair was a success, financially. Socially, it was successful, too, for all of the large number of guests enjoyed the bountiful supper and the gathering of persons that was assembled.

R. C. S. CLUB

A literary and musical program will entertain the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Newhouse of Glenwood, when they entertain the R. C. S. Club this evening. A varied program of numbers furnished by several of the sixteen members of the club has been planned for the affair. Each of these meetings has been a social pleasure as well as a literary treat and the one this evening promises to fulfill this reputation.

DEGREE WORK GIVEN

Rushville Rebekah Lodge number 132 at their meeting last evening conferred the degree upon a class of nineteen, before an audience of nearly two hundred. Out-of-town visitors were present from Homer, Milroy, Arlington and Greensburg, more than thirty being present from the latter place. The guests were attracted by the reputation of the local staff for its brilliant degree work. Among the Greensburg guests were Mr. and Mrs. Will Ehrhardt and Mr. and Mrs. G. O. Barnard, who are prominent in the order. After the degree, a few short talks were given by the visitors, complimenting the local order very highly. The guests were then ushered into the dining room where light refreshments of ice-cream, cake and coffee were served.

DINNER PARTY

Miss Dorothy Sparks was hostess to eight of her girl friends this afternoon when she entertained the members of the T. O. G. Club at her home in North Main street. Playing and singing delighted the guests during the pleasant afternoon hours after which they were invited to the dining room where a delicious six o'clock dinner was served. The decorations were simple but effective on the prettily set table.

PLEASANT AFTERNOON

Another pleasant afternoon the members of the Embroidery Club were privileged to enjoy when they were the guests of Miss Mary Amos at her home in North Perkins street this afternoon. There were thirty guests, including the members and several invited guests to enjoy the afternoon of sewing and chatting together. With sweet peas, the rooms were made unusually fragrant for the afternoon and were reminders of spring as well. A delicious one-course luncheon was served to the guests near the close of the merry affair. Mrs. Maley and Miss Connell of Connerville and Mrs. D. C. Green of Salt Lake City were among the invited guests.

SURPRISE PARTY

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Hunt were very pleasantly surprised at their pretty country home near Gings Monday evening, March 20th, the event being in honor of their eighteenth wedding anniversary. The guests brought refreshments which were served late in the evening. Games and music, furnished by Mr. Hinchman and Omer Bowles helped to amuse the guests during the evening. In the party which planned this successful surprise were Mr. and Mrs. William Hinchman and children, Eulalia and Gayle, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Daubenspeck and daughters, Verril and Mary Ella, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Hinchman, Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Austin, Omer Bowles, Chase and Charles Jarrett and Lawrence Harmon.

LITERARY PROGRAM

Over a hundred people were in the audience that enjoyed the program given by the Literary society of the Orange high school in the school building last evening. The following program occupied the meeting:

Selection on graphophone.
Piano duet—Clarence and Drucia Crist.
Reading—Miss Mildred Beaver.
Vocal solo—Miss Florence Paxton.
Dialogue by four boys.
Recitation—Miss Nellie Henry.
Talk—Edgar Starr.
Vocal duet—the Misses Mary Houchins and Florence Paxton.
Recitation—Miss Vera Houchins.
Reading—Miss Edith George.
Vocal solo—Miss Nellie Henry.
Reading—Mrs. John Stone.

This meeting was the last meeting of the school year for the society. Equally good programs are anticipated, however, for the meeting of next year.

—Mr. and Mrs. Alva Junken of Henderson were shoppers here today.

THORNBERRY CLUB

Another in the series of parties being held by the Thornberry Club, was the one given by Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Hasty on Thursday evening. Rook, informal games and music were the delightful diversions for the merry company of guests. A palatable luncheon was served to the guests who were Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Hungerford, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Moore, Mr. and Mrs. John Shaw, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Weidner, Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Hungerford, Mr.

and Mrs. Claude Hilligoss, the Misses Mildred Hungerford, Hazel Shaw, Ruth Moore, Thelma Weidner, Maxine Hungerford, Golda Shaw, Iva Enos, Bertha Halterman, Frances Thompson, Nellie Myers, Letha Hungerford, Deloris Hasty, Vivian Kemple, Alice Shaw, Ethel Hungerford, Gladys Hasty, Ida Redden and Edith Hungerford and Howard Hungerford, Foster Hilligoss, Newton Halterman Retla Alter, Harry Mull, Lot Redden, Watson Miller, Glen Hungerford, Herman Hilligoss, Bert Redden, Robert Hasty, Ernest Halterman, Henry Mauzy, Frank Webb, Clarence Weidner, Paul Hungerford, and Cuban Downs.

CHILDREN'S PROGRAM

The Young Ladies Mission Circle of the Christian church has an interesting meeting in store for Monday night when they are entertained by the life members of the Missionary society at the home of Deryl Case in North Main street. The life members are Mary Elizabeth Waggoner, Mildred Boys and Deryl Case. The following program has been planned.

Bible Study—Miss Della Downey.
Prayer song by Mary Elizabeth Waggoner, Virginia Lucas, Mildred Boys, Viola Jay, Cyrus Yocum, Graham Pugh and Deryl Case.
Piano solo—Mildred Boys.
Sketch from India—Mrs. Russel Barringer.
Recitation—Donald Dean.
Vocal duet—"I Know a Little Girl," by Mary Elizabeth Waggoner and Viola Jay, accompanied by Mildred Boys.
Piano solo—Deryl Case.
Vocal solo—Graham Pugh.
Recitation—Cyrus Yocum.
Vocal solo—Mary Elizabeth Waggoner.
Piano solo—Virginia Lucas.
"The Chipmunk"—vocal solo—Viola Jay accompanied by Deryl Case.
Chorus, by children.
Benediction.

TO BE BURIED HERE SUNDAY

Mrs. Amanda Ward, 94, Dead in Indianapolis, Once Lived Here

The remains of Mrs. Amanda Ward, who died yesterday in Indianapolis, will be brought here Sunday afternoon for burial. Mrs. Ward formerly lived here and is remembered by many of the older residents. She was 96 years old and died at the home of her granddaughter, Mrs. Florence Swisher. Death was caused by senility. Mrs. Ward was the widow of the late Richard Ward and is survived by two sons Richard Ward, Jr. and William Hedges of Indianapolis.

MANILLA BEATS LONDON

Game Nearly Ends in Wrangle When London Protests

The basketball game at Shelbyville last night between Manilla and London came near ending at the end of the first half when Manilla insisted on playing Lawrence, a Columbus player. Manilla finally won by a score of 37 to 32. Under the agreement, it is stated that both teams were to use only their regular men and London protested at Lawrence participating in the game. London led at the end of the first period 23 to 11. The wrangle lasted several minutes and for a time London threatened to leave the floor. The game was played for the so-called championship of the Sixth district.

ROOM PROVES TOO SMALL

Seventy-Five Take Examination For Teacher's Licenses

A record attendance marked the second examination for teachers' licenses today. A total of seventy-five took the examination and Superintendent George was compelled to move to the Graham high school building as the examination room at the court house was too small to accommodate the crowd. At the January examination only forty took the test. This number was cut down on account of the weather. There was no examination in February. The examination today covered the first and second divisions, high school, supervisors and vocational subjects.

PAIGE
The Standard of Value and Quality

Now is the Time to Buy Your "Six-46"

Let us again urge you to place your order for a Fairfield "Six-46" as soon as you possibly can.

Don't wait too long—don't be too sure that you can buy to just as good advantage thirty or sixty days from now.

For—remember—there were three purchasers for each "Six-46" that we could turn out last year. And, up to the present time, there is every indication that this "sold out" condition will be repeated.

Then, also remember that the cost of manufacturing materials and labor is still soaring.

Already, several manufacturers have found it necessary to increase the list price of their cars, and more announcements of this kind are undoubtedly coming.

By early buying, we have done everything that we possibly could to protect ourselves and you. But in the face of a constantly rising market, we may be forced to increase prices proportionately.

From the present outlook there is no other alternative for we flatly refuse to compromise on the quality of our cars. We shall continue to use only the best materials—no matter how far the commodity prices may advance.

Of one thing you can be certain—the Paige "Six-46" will never cost less than $1295 this year. We absolutely guarantee this, but we can't undertake to guarantee against an advance.

Above all, please understand that this advertisement is written in a sincerely helpful spirit. It is by no means our purpose to "stampede" motor car buyers into early or ill-advised purchases.

We are merely telling you the facts—facts that can be readily substantiated by your banker or any man who is well informed in regard to industrial conditions.

We want you to drive a Paige, of course, but we have never found it necessary to resort to "expedients" in order to sell a single car of our production.

The "Six-46" now costs $1295. At that price, we honestly believe that it represents more actual dollar-for-dollar value than any other motor car on the market.

Wait too long—and you run the risk of paying more.

Place your order now, and you can rest assured that you will never regret the decision.

"COCK ROBIN" TO STAGE COME BACK

In This Instance it is the Susan B. Anthony Suffrage Amendment Being Brought to Life.

WOMEN ARE STILL CONFIDENT

Was Referred to Sub-Committee While Four Members Were Away—Bases of Contest.

(By United Press.)

Washington, March 25.—So far as Mother Goose relates, the original Cock Robin staged no come-back. Once dead, he remained decently in that condition. Moreover, his women friends made no effort to bring him back; nor did they pester the official graveyard custodians.

But the world has moved since Mother Goose lived, and the Cock Robin under present discussion though officially dead, is raising a considerable post-mortem hubbub and may be brought to life with a bang in Congress next Tuesday.

The present Cock Robin is the once-called Susan B. Anthony suffrage amendment, rechristened Cock Robin by Representative Carlin of Virginia. The graveyard attendants, tried and true if nervous, are the members of the House judiciary committee; and the pestiferous would-be revivers are the battling suffragists.

The trouble all started when Carlin walked out of a sub-committee which was to have reported the resolution of the whole committee, and announced.

"Well, we've killed Cock Robin." He meant that the sub-committee had determined not to report the measure to the full committee, where one of those dog-gone aye-and-no votes would have to be taken.

However, here enter the lady revivers, the suffs. They found that the resolution had been referred to the sub-committee while four of their friends in the committee were away, and they began a campaign for votes to bring that measure back before the whole committee and a record roll-call.

They found a deplorable amount of ill-health, previous engagements, promises to friends, official business out of the city, and sickness in the family among the congressmen—all of which conspired to keep them away from committee meetings they would like to attend. And so:

"Good-morning Congressman," smiles a good looking young woman.

"How are you this morning?"

"Never better," beams Mr. Competent and Protective Male.

"Not sick at all?"

"Do I look it?"

"Your family in good health?"

"Yes, yes indeed."

"You don't expect to be called out of the city?"

"No."

"Well, I'm glad to know this. There can't be a single reason then, can there, why you should not be able to vote tomorrow to bring Cock Robin before the whole committee?" (Business of drawing out a notebook and pencil.)

"No, and I ain't scared to stay and vote, neither," answered some.

"Whew," say others, after their secretaries have rescued them from painfully obvious stalling, and the Lady Friend has left.

So far, H. H. Moss of Virginia has been called from a sick bed to vote; life for Dale of New York has been just one official-business-out-of-town after another and Graham of New York has developed a memory.

At eventide he promised the ladies he was for at least one more lease of life for Cock Robin; but when morning dawned remembered an agreement, made previously with other members not to force fellow congressmen to vote either on prohibition or suffrage this season. Sorry, but in a matter of honor what can a man do?

Williams of Illinois remembered for a while that it would be decidedly embarrassing for certain other members if they had to vote yes or

no. The suffragists finally brought him around.

So there lies Cock Robin; perhaps dead, perhaps simply in suspended animation and with the pulmotor squad manning the oxygen pumps; the grave-yard attendants murmuring something about ghouls; and the resourcefulness of congressional minds being taxed to the limit. Next Tuesday will tell Cock Robin's tale.

ARMY MEASURE PASSED BY HOUSE

First Preparedness Bill, Providing Regular Army of 140,000 Men Wins Favor.

SENATE WILL VOTE SOON

Washington, March 25.—The administration army increase bill, first of the big preparedness measures to be passed upon by the House of Representatives, was approved by that body late yesterday afternoon by almost a unanimous vote, only the Socialist, Representative London of New York, and Representative Britten, Republican, of Illinois voting against the measure.

The House, sitting in committee of the whole, previously had gone over the measure, section by section, and denuded it of all provisions which, to the majority, appeared either to rob the bill of its "teeth," or to exaggerate the preparedness idea to a point beyond that contemplated by the President.

The most interesting section stricken out perhaps was that which provided for the establishment of a plant for extracting nitrogen from the air, so as to keep the United States, in event of war, from having to depend upon the imports of Chilean nitrate for the manufacture of ammunition.

What are you interested in when you go to buy an automobile? Is it 70 miles an hour over dead horse hill on high gear; 40 miles an hour from a standing start in ten seconds. A car with so many features that to read the advertisement of it seems more like reading a story in Arabian Nights than a present day creation. Or would you be more interested in how much comfort is built in. And that other item—Cost of maintenance, tire mileage, gasoline consumption, garage bills, those things that vitally effect the pocketbook, in which everyone is interested and about which so little is said.

Will they give me any tangible evidence that I will get the kind of service that I feel I have a right to expect? Proof of the pudding is chewing the bag. Give us a chance to show you what has been done by cars we represent, then draw your own conclusions.

NATIONAL FLOWER SHOW IS OPENED

Rich Prizes Adds to Attraction at Big Philadelphia—Fine Collection Shown.

FLORISTS BACK EXHIBITION

(By United Press.)

Philadelphia, March 25.—The Fourth National Flower Show opened here today. When the doors of Convention Hall swung wide, the public gazed upon one of the greatest collections of new and rare flowers and plants ever gathered together in America. Hundreds of exhibits of rare orchids, new roses and carnations, and the finest specimens of every sort in the horticultural and floral world from private estates and commercial and amateur growers were there.

Rich prizes, which now total nearly $25,000, are the magnet that brought the priceless specimens here. The flower show is international in scope, for by its awards the reputations of the new creations are established all over the world.

In connection with the show the Garden Clubs of America will hold their convention. This even has brought many delegates from all sections of the country.

The National Flower Show is managed by the Society of American Florists and Ornamental Horticulturists. It is staged every three years and has been held in Boston, New York and Chicago.

Super Six

We do not at any time resort to unfair methods in selling our car. We simply ask the privilege of making a favorable comparison to any car on the market and then we are positive in our beliefs that the tangible qualities of the SUPER SIX will stand out most prominently.

All Records Broken

100 miles in 80 minutes 21.4 seconds, averaging 74.67 miles per hour with driver and passengers. 70.74 miles in one hour carrying 5 passengers with top and wind shield up.

From standing start to 50 miles per hour in 16.2 seconds.

Over 70 miles per hour maintained for 1350 miles without discoverable wear on any part.

All the above HUDSON records were made with the same stock car, using the same motor at Sheepshead Bay Speedway in November under American Automobile Association supervision.

We uphold the high standard of automobile salesmanship. Our method of selling the SUPER SIX is to make a practical demonstration and then we feel we have accomplished our purpose. We do not then fear results for the SUPER SIX will speak for itself, still we feel all other cars manufactured today well worth the money, but we feel the SUPER SIX in a class by itself, and know of no other car on the market equal to it selling at the same price.

WHY BUY A SIX?

The Six Cylinder is Theoretically almost perfect. Six cylinders is the smallest number of cylinders that will produce continuous power in a gasoline motor. No motor with less than six cylinders will do this.

STAGE IS SET FOR BIG FIGHT

Everything is in Readiness For Ten Round Bout Between Willard and Moran.

RECORD CROWD PROMISED

Generally Conceded That Dope Favors Willard Although Moran Has a Chance

BY THE SPORT SEER.
(Written for United Press.)
New York, March 25.—The scene is set in Madison Square Garden.

With almost reverent awe the ring side flunkies have tested the ropes, jarred the floors for possible flaws and burnished the sacred water buckets.

Jess Willard and Frank Moran meet tonight. The 10-round bout between the giants of the ring has all New York, a station of some few hundred souls, tingling with expectancy.

A considerable outside section of the so-called civilized world also is straining its ears for ringside tidings. Charley White, referee of the costliest 10-round tussle ever planned, has his counter in trim. He is ready to toll ten over either gladiator with almost brutal impartiality. Willard will send full many a member of the clan Moran supperless to bed for nights and nights to some if he stops the blonde from Pittsburgh in the evening shadows.

Those who saw Moran beat Jim Coffey over the knockout course twice in the same ring were so strongly impressed with his haymaking right that they plunged even before Big Jess bestowed his bulk on Broadway. Later they felt tremors about the bank-roll and these tremors have become acute pains as the big battle draws near.

Willard is powerful long on size and strength and it is inconceivable to many persons that anything less than a Baldwin runabout can carry a kick of sufficient force to bounce him into dreamland. It ought to be a real fight. Moran has nothing to gain by stalling 10 rounds with Willard. He could have gone on in New York obtaining fairly copulent purses for fighting mediocre maulers had he not chosen to take on Willard. Now that he has done so the road to fabulous wealth is clear, except for Jess Willard.

All Moran has to do is flatten the Kansas giant. He opines it's a man-sized undertaking but claims he is the man to do it.

Willard himself stands higher than Mister Woolworth's sizeable shanty with most of the fans of the country. But if he pulls the old one-two-three-kick on the Broadway bounders he will find himself flat on his well-known back so far as desirable matches are concerned.

The fans are putting a lot of faith in the big boy in tonight's go and he will have to deliver according to the invoice or go down in pugilistic history as the biggest article of gorgonzola ever shown.

Moran's boxing ability is fairly well known Willard's is a mysterious quantity. Jess boxed like an amateur with a broken arm in his bouts here in the harrowing ham-and-egg days and flashed up as a master of Queensbury tactics against Jack Johnson.

When that gloomy gent measured his longitude along the floor at Havana, Jess was hailed as rather some boxer. He appears in his training bout to have learned a whole library of tricks and most valuable of them is that of holding his opponent's elbows to keep the other gent away.

Willard gets the biggest purse ever offered for a ten-round bout, $47,500 being the stipend. Moran's purse of $20,000 with a sizeable bit for liniment and other training expenses, is the largest ever offered any challenger for any kind of a bout, according to sport statisticians.

For that money the boys ought to put up quite a tussle this evening.

Champion Sluggers Attract Attention in Game at Dallas.

(By United Press.)
Dallas, Tex., March 25.—Every fan in the country had his eyes on this city today. The New York Giants and Detroit Tigers opened a two-game exhibition series, and incidentally provided the means for one of the most interesting events in baseball, the first meeting of Ty Cobb and Benny Kauff in actual play. After the final game tomorrow, dopesters will have something definite with which to compare the two great luminaries. Members of both clubs and visiting newspapermen will be entertained at a smoker tonight by the Newspaper club.

BIG ATHLETIC MEET TONIGHT

Missouri Association Stages Carnival—Many Representatives Entered.

SPECIAL EVENTS PLANNED

(By United Press.)
St. Louis, Mo., March 25.—What promises to be the biggest athletic meet in the West in years is scheduled for tonight when more than two hundred athletes toe their marks in the Missouri Athletic Association indoor carnival at the Coliseum.

Athletes from Cornell, Chicago, Pennsylvania, Illinois, Wisconsin, Notre Dame and all the Missouri Valley Conference colleges are entered. Among the athletic clubs with big entry lists are the Chicago A. A., Illinois A. C., of Chicago and the Kansas City A. C. About fifty Illinois and Missouri high schools will be represented in the various events.

In addition to the usual field and track events, a special "440" between Ted Meredith of Pennsylvania and Dismond, Chicago University's dusky speed demon, has been arranged. In a special fifty yard dash Loomis, the Chicago streak, will lineup against Mahl, St. Louis' fastest dasher. Teams from Cornell and Pennsylvania will clash in an all-American relay championship.

Thin Women Surprised

And one day there comes to most of us the conviction that we, too, must have help—help that rebuilds, restores, replaces the nervous energy that has been so recklessly expended.

It is then that the kindly, tonic influence of Tonoline is appreciated. For after all, that need of help is often but the nerves' need of nourishment.

And when Tonoline brings to the starved cells and tissues the very foods they hunger for, in just the form that is mostly easily taken up, it is not long before relief comes.

We are receiving letters daily from grateful people telling how Tonoline has reconstructed cell and tissue, enriched the blood, produced keener appetite and better slumber and infused the whole system with new vigor.

Prof. B. writes: "I have gained 50 pounds since taking Tonoline and am now at just the weight I desired to be. I can recommend Tonoline to any thin person."

For women who can never appear stylish in anything they wear because of their thinness this remarkable treatment may prove a revelation. It is a beauty maker as well as a form builder and nerve strengthener.

COUNTY HAS A GOOD RECORD

Per Cent of Wards Sent to State

Institutions is Small, According to Miss Alta Bridges

AGENT OF THE STATE BOARD

Miss Bridges Concludes Visit in County Examining Condition of Wards in Private Homes

Miss Alta Bridges, agent of the board of state charities, departed today after spending several days in Rush county visiting wards of the state board who are in private homes of the county. The per cent of wards being cared for in this county and sent from the county for homes for delinquent, neglected and abandoned children is very small as compared to other counties, according to Miss Bridges, who explained the system fully.

The various homes for children of the class mentioned are supported by the state and the expense of forty cents a child per day is paid by the county from which the child is sent. Of course, when the child is placed in a private home, the county is relieved of that expense. Miss Bridges said that only 33

DRINK HOT WATER BEFORE BREAKFAST

Says you really feel clean, sweet and fresh inside, and are seldom ill.

If you are accustomed to wake up with a coated tongue, foul breath or a dull, dizzy headache; or, if your meals sour and turn into gas and acids, you have a real surprise awaiting you.

To-morrow morning, immediately upon arising, drink a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it. This is intended to first neutralize and then wash out of your stomach, liver, kidneys and thirty feet of intestines all the indigestible waste, poisons, sour bile and toxins, thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal. Those subject to sick headaches, backache, bilious attacks, constipation or any form of stomach trouble, are urged to get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from the drug store and begin enjoying this morning inside-bath. It is said that men and women who try this become enthusiastic and keep it up daily. It is a splendid health measure for it is more important to keep clean and pure on the inside than on the outside, because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, causing disease, while the bowel pores do.

The principle of bathing inside is not new, as millions of people practice it. Just as hot water and soap cleanse, purify and freshen the skin, so hot water and a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate act on the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels. Limestone phosphate is an inexpensive white powder and almost tasteless.

out of the 92 counties in the state operate their own homes for delinquents and abandoned and neglected children. This is due to the fact that the number of such children from the smaller counties is so small that the counties find it cheaper to send them to the state homes.

Rush and Henry counties found this to be true by experience. It will be remembered that there was once such a home at Spiceland which was supported by Henry and Rush counties. A few years ago they abandoned it because the number of children diminished to such an extent that the matroness of the home could not afford to care for the children as cheaply as the state homes.

Miss Bridges said that the age of supervision is from birth to eighteen years. The board of children's guardians, composed of six persons, three of whom must be women, and appointed by the judge of the circuit court, oversee the work in the counties. Members of the board serve without pay. They report to the judge of the court cases of children who are improperly fed, who are immoral or have a bad home life. The judge may make children wards of the state or they may be become wards on action of their parents. In case parents ask that their children be sent to the state homes, they must pay the support of forty cents a day.

Miss Bridges said that there are two thousand in state homes and three thousand in private homes.

Miss Bridges explained that the children who are wards of the state might be taken into private homes without being adopted. As long as they are not adopted, the state retains supervision over them and their agents, such as Miss Bridges is, visit the homes regularly to see that the children are being properly clothed and fed. When the children are adopted, they cease to be wards of the state. So long as they are wards, the board of state charities keeps a complete record of every child by the use of a card index system.

Miss Bridges urged the attendance of Rush county people at the annual national conference of charities and corrections which will be held in Indianapolis May 10 to 17. All sessions will be held at Tomlinson hall. There will be many round table talks in connection with the conference for charity workers to exchange ideas.

TODAY'S ODDEST STORY.

Brooklyn, N. Y., March 25.—A few years ago Herbert Allen, 295 Irving avenue, lost his legs in an accident. He didn't collect a cent in damages. Last year he lost his wooden legs in an accident. "This time I'll sue," said he. The Queens County court has granted him $329 damages from the Brooklyn Heights Railroad company.

LETTERS ON BALLOON "VOTE FOR WATSON"

One Found in Wayne County Bore

Words Saying Linus Meredith Would Pay Finder $10

WATSON'S MANAGER THERE

A spent gas-filled toy balloon, believed to have been sent up at Rushville during the state-wide primary campaign, and bearing a card offering $10 reward is presented to Linus P. Meredith, of this, city was found, by a farmer, living north of the city, according to the story he related to the police over the telephone says the Richmond Item. On the card was written with a typewriter the following:

"If finder of this balloon or card will present same to Linus P. Meredith, of Richmond, $10 reward will be paid.

"VOTE FOR WATSON." The latter phrase was underscored. The finder, whose identity the police did not reveal, called up the police to learn if they had heard of any other balloons being found. "No, I have not, but I will bet you will have to drug Meredith to get the ten-spot," replied the police officer.

"Don't you worry about me getting the money," replied the finder. "This offer looks good to me."

The farmer said he had happened upon the balloon accidentally. It was green in color and evidently had sprung a leak. The card was in good shape, although rain specked.

C. OF C. WORKS FOR MORE CONVENTIONS

Indianapolis Commercial Body

Wants Fund With Which to Carry on This Work.

CLAIMS STATE IS BENEFITED

(By United Press.)

Indianapolis, Ind., March 25.—The Indianapolis Chamber of Commerce is after more conventions for Indianapolis. It wants more conventions, larger conventions, and more conventions of a national character. To attain this end it is campaigning for a fund which would provide $15,000 a year for three years, as against $4,200 which is the amount now at the disposal of the convention division annually.

Indianapolis must meet keen competition in a systematic way to hold its own in spite of what the Chamber of Commerce terms its "exceptional location, transportation advantages and local convention facilities."

The C. of C. claims it will be a benefit to the state to have big conventions come to this city.

THREE YEARS AGO TODAY

By three o'clock water was flowing down Main and Perkins streets in the business part of Rushville at a terrific rate.

That flood cost the life of one man, although there was really no occasion for wasting it. James Hubbard, a colored horse trainer, attempted to drive to Wade Sherman's shop in South Perkins street near the mill race. When near the shop, the horse got in deep water and could not be controlled. The strong current carried the horse and vehicle to the mill race bank. Wade Sherman leaped from the buggy and swam to dry land, but Hubbard remained with the horse. When the animal stopped, he tried to swim out of the flood water but he went down. His body was later recovered. The horse was loosened from the buggy and escaped drowning.

There were many thrilling rescues during that day—Tuesday, March 25—but none compared to the interest that centered in the plight of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Huntington, an old and feeble couple who were marooned in their home in Flatrock bottom and near Moscow. They were rescued on Wednesday morning, March 26, at five o'clock after several men imperiled their lives in an effort to save the lives of Mr. and Mrs. Huntington. Many tales of heroism came from the scene of the rescue. The current was so swift that the Huntington home could not be reached in a row boat. Futile attempts were made without avail.

Among the Milroy men who risked their lives to save the aged couple were Dr. S. G. Hougland, the Rev. Paul Stewart, Joe Mills, Pete Pool, Mit Achres, Noah Colsher and Luther Harcourt. Mr. Achres and the Rev. Mr. Stewart suffered severely from exposure and it was feared for some time that their condition might be critical. In repeated attempts to reach the marooned people, some of the rescuers themselves were marooned on a pile of debris in the center of the current that threatened to float down stream any minute. The Rev. Mr. Stewart lashed himself to the limb of a tree with his suspenders for a long period before anyone could reach him in a row boat. His hands were paralyzed by the cold and the suspenders were his only hope of safety.

That flood cost Rush county close to $200,000 in damaged roads and bridges. No one will ever know how much it cost individuals. The loss was variously estimated at from $500,000 to $1,000,000.

The flood was felt in almost all parts of the city. The people in the northwestern section were isolated by Hodges branch, which goes on a rampage ever time Flatrock does. The branch began rising on Monday evening preceding the big deluge and many furniture factory workmen living in other parts of the city had difficulty in reaching their homes. Several school children had to remain at the homes of friends on Monday night.

The court house lawn was the only dry spot in the business part of Rushville. Wednesday following the flood was devoted to cleaning although the water had not fully receded at that time.

Wire communications, mail and traffic were demoralized. It was two days before a pack of mail was received or sent from the Rushville postoffice. Not a mail carrier was able to cover his route on Tuesday, the 25th.

No trains came into Rushville for two or three days, with the exception of the L. E. & W. which plies between here and Newcastle. Some Indianapolis newspapers were received by way of Newcastle a couple of days late. The first news from Indianapolis came from a party of I. & C. workmen who came through on a handcar from the junction, reaching here Tuesday evening.

Not the least important feature of the big flood was the fear entertained by local people for relatives in the flooded districts. Several had friends and relatives in Dayton, Piqua and Hamilton, three Ohio cities that were hard hit by the high water. Gradually the news crept in of conditions elsewhere. The "first survivor" stories began to break loose. There never was such a story for local newspaper men to handle. Rumors, all greatly exaggerated, of course, were thick. Ol Walton came in from Peru, Ind., with a thrilling story of the damage done there and Ben French was not far behind him with a story of the horrible plight of Piqua. Soon came news of the Dayton flood and the thrilling rescue of Clarence Dillon and his five children from their homes as it floated down the river. Mrs. Dillon died of fright. Arvel VanSycle was the first local person to come out of the flood district of Indianapolis, and he, too, had a wild tale of conditions there.

After the flood subsided, Rushville bent her energies to scrubbing up and helping those less fortunate cities who had suffered more than she. Mayor Bebout decreed a clean-up day and it was never entered into more wholeheartedly than on that occasion. Rushville contributed a large sum of money and four automobiles loaded with bedclothing went to survivors of the Brookville flood. Several lives were lost there and half of Brookville was washed away.

The flood of 1913 will be the basis of many harrowing tales the grandfathers of the future will tell the wide-eyed little ones, but there is not a person who passed through it that cares for a repetition of the experience.

"A Pair of Silk Stockings," which Windthrop Ames presents at the Shubert Murat Theatre for one week beginning Monday, April 3d, with matinee Wednesday and Saturday, is one of these charmingly done and refreshingly light comedies which Mr. Ames knows so well how to do. One always expects him to produce the comedy of manners rather than the tragedy of reality. And he never disappoints.

"A Pair of Silk Stockings" is the work of Mr. Cyril Harcourt, the English playwright, novelist and actor and it will be performed in this city by a notable company including Mr. Sothorn, the distinguished English actor-manager, who by the way is a brother of our own Edward H. Sothorn. The action of the play revolves in the home of English gentlefolk—that of Sir John Gower and his good lady, and it furnishes much material for amusing scenes and smart, witty dialogue.

In some mysterious manner a pair of silk stockings belonging to a charming young lady become the center of interest to a lot of well-bred people who make it their business to trace the singular ramifications of my lady's hosiery. Needless to say, the stockings are found, the lady vindicated and reconciled to her husband. But not until after many interesting things are enacted—some scenes causing the audience to sit tight and wonder just how far the next incident will lead them.

Mr. Hector Trumbull, the dramatic critic of the New York Tribune in reviewing the play on the opening night of its all season's run at Mr. Ames' exclusive Little Theatre in that city last year gave an excellent idea of the impression created by the play in the following: "Not only has the playwright drawn a faithful and engaging picture of that much maligned type, the English gentlefolk, but he has handled a delicate situation with such a brave show of disarming British wholesomeness, that our familiar Frenchy, bedridden farces appear sad stuff in comparison. Articles of women's attire, generally completely concealed in comedy and vulgarly flaunted in farce, are disclosed to a delightful audience, fulfilling a purpose both utilitarian and artistic."

Seats for this attraction can be secured through the Shubert Murat local representative, Hargrove & Mullin.

State Tax Commissioner Wolcott
Says Valuation on Them Will
Have to be Raised Here.

ASSESSORS MEET TODAY

Wolcott Also Complains of Assessment of Horses in Ripley Township Being Too Low.

According to Eben Wolcott of the state tax board, who was here yesterday for a conference with County Assessor Schrader automobiles and farm implements in Rush county are being assessed too low. He told the county assessor that Rush county was below the average of other counties and advised that conditions be changed or the state board would take a hand.

This information was imparted to the township assessors today when they gathered for their second meeting with Mr. Schrader. It was pointed out that the assessors should have no trouble assessing automobiles. A rule has been adopted and is generally followed that automobiles will be assessed by allowing $100 depreciation each year. The assessors have the blanks from last year and can readily see what the machines were taken in at last year.

Outside of the automobiles and farm implements, Mr. Wolcott was well pleased with most of the assessments. He had a kick regarding Ripley township. The report examined by Mr. Wolcott was for the first ten days and if this is to be taken as a criterion for the whole period of assessing, he declared Ripley township would be raised by the state board.

The complaint against Ripley township was in regard to horses.
Mr. Wolcott stated that the township either had a poor bunch of horses or else the assessor had been fooled. The assessment for the period of ten days showed that Ripley was $20 lower than any other township in the average assessment of horses. The horses in Ripley township average only $60, and Mr.
Wolcott and Mr. Schrader are both of the opinion that this is too low.

In Jackson township the horses average $105, and Mr. Schrader believes that Ripley has just as good horses as Jackson. At the meeting today the township assessor of Ripley township was asked to go back over the ground and see if he could not get a higher valuation. The assessment could be changed by the county board, but as this always requires much time, it was thought best to let the assessor change the figures.

THREE YEARS AGO TODAY WATER
FLOWED THROUGH STREETS HERE

Three years ago this date Rushville was in the throes of the worst flood in its history. Because conditions this week were strikingly similar to those of three years ago many predicted that there would be a repetition of the calamity of 1913, but it does not seem likely.

On Sunday night, March 23, 1913, a tornado swept Terre Haute with a loss of twenty lives and a property damage of one million dollars. The tornado dipped down again at Omaha, Neb., dealing out death to two hundred and injuring five hundred.

Slight effects of the tornado were felt here in the form of a heavy gale, but trouble did not being for Rush county until the next day. On

MARTHA BROWN
DIES AT AGE OF 94

Mother of A. C. Brown of This City,
Expires at Her Homes in Milroy
Friday Evening.

FIVE CHILDREN SURVIVE

Mrs. Martha Brown, 94 years old, widow of the late James B. Brown and mother of A. C. Brown of this city, died last night at six o'clock at her home in Milroy. Mrs. Brown had been ill for several weeks and her death was expected. Senility and a complication of diseases caused her death.

Mrs. Brown was born in Butler county, Ohio, October 24, 1821, and was brought to this county by her parents when six weeks old. She lived in Milroy or the immediate vicinity all her life and was well known and highly respected woman.
She is survived by five children, A.
C. Brown of this city, R. N. Brown and N. N. Brown of Anderson township, and the Misses Emma and Anna Brown, who live at home.

The funeral services will be conducted Monday morning at 9:30 o'clock in the United Presbyterian church in Milroy by the Rev. Mr.
Wiley and burial will take place in the Milroy cemetery.

Evansville, Ind., March 25.—John Brown, tailor, was blessed by the arrival of a big girl. He was so pleased over the stork's gift that he forgot to pay for a load of coal that came the same day. Brown was discharged in city court when the judge learned the circumstances.

Robert Vredenburg is ill at his home with la grippe.

The condition of Charles Rasor is gradually improving and his recovery is expected. He is able to sit up a few hours each day.

sitt. Music preceded the sermon and consisted of a solo by Miss Mary Louise Bliss, a solo by Clarence E.
Lane and a number by the Junior choir. Announcement was made that the regular services will be carried out tomorrow. The Rev.
Daniel Ryan of Glenwood will preach in the morning and Dr.
Bacon at night.

"No man careth for my soul," are the words uttered by David when pursued by Saul. His own men had forsaken him and he was seeking refuge in a cave. This is the picture of a man who feels he stands alone without the aid of human sympathy and it is only one of the lonely pictures of God's book. I want to talk of a sympathy keen and alive, with an interest in men's souls." With this beginning, the Rev. C. E.
Bacon cited instances of the sympathetic figures in the Bible, beginning with Jeremiah.

"Jeremiah is often called the weeping prophet. He saw calamities that were to befall the people of Israel, but with his affection and sympathy, he stayed with them. Paul is another sympathetic figure in the Bible. We can see the controlling passion that filled his heart. He was willing to be outwardly rejected if thereby persons might come nearer to God.

"No picture is printed more intensely than that of Christ weeping over Jerusalem. It deserves an angel's pen to describe the pathos of this scene when Christ looked out over Jerusalem and realized it was to be razed to the ground.

"Every worth-while character in history shows this human sympathy too. Bunyan said he could not be content unless he could see and feel the fruits of his preaching and know he was saving souls for Christ.
Doddridge, the author of a number of hymns said that one soul was more valuable than mountains of gold and silver. John Welsh was found weeping once because he said he had 3,000 souls to account for.

"And yet we say 'Am I my brother's keeper?' The answer comes in the words 'Thy brother's blood cryeth unto me from the ground' We try to avoid the responsibility, we blame the preacher, the preacher blames the choir and the choir blames the congregation. Let us take more responsibility. Parents are not content until they care for the physical needs of their children,

Passengers Aboard Sussex, Sunk in Channel Yesterday Afternoon,
Say They Saw Missile

CORRESPONDENT ON VESSEL

Says Two of Twelve Americans
Known to Have Been on Board
Are Believed to be Lost

By JOHN H. HEARLEY
(United Press Staff Correspondent who was aboard the Sussex when she was struck).

Boulogne, (Via Paris), March 25.
—Two of the twelve Americans known to have been aboard the Channel liner Sussex believed to have been torpedoed in crossing the channel yesterday afternoon are missing and believed to be lost.

They are Elizabeth Baldwin and her father of Philadelphia.
Three American passengers agree that they saw a torpedo.

It is estimated that fifty of the 380 passengers lost their lives, though it is possible some were picked up and taken into other ports.

The Sussex left Folkestone shortly after noon under excellent weather conditions and was nearing the French port of Dieppe when she was struck. I was conversing with other Americans among my fellow passengers when an explosion suddenly shook the whole ship.

One of the Sussex life boats was blown off by the force of the explosion and splinters sent hurtling high into the air. At the same time a fountain of water dashed over the side of the ship.

DOMINION LINER IS SUNK

Englishman Torpedoed, But Time and Place Not Given.

(By United Press.)
Washington, March 25.—The Dominion liner Englishman has been torpedoed. The time and place were not given by American Consul Armstrong in a cable to the state department today.

Thirty-three survivors were landed at a northern British port. Four Americans are believed lost.

U-BOAT QUESTION

ONLY ONE COURSE TO FOLLOW

(By United Press.)
Washington, March 25.—The submarine issue with all of its grave possibilities, once more faced the American government today. The Mexican situation was relegated to the background.

Torpedo attacks on the Sussex and Englishman lead Washington officials to fear that another violent submarine campaign had been started by the central powers. This belief has been growing for days.

Secretary Lansing acted quickly, sending orders to American representatives abroad to cable all facts.
The department attitude, should

New Traffic Post at Main and Second Weighs 550 Pounds.

The automobile that hits the new traffic post at the corner of Main and Second street will undoubtedly come out the worse for the adventure. The new post was erected this morning. It is made of cast iron pipe and is filled with cement. This combination makes the post weigh 550 pounds. The posts used last year were too light and they were frequently run over until they were finally destroyed. The council at the last meeting advocated a heavy post and if the one just erected proves satisfactory others will be made.

RUSH COUNTY BOY
HELD FOR FORGERY

Expected Case Against Arthur Bever, Held in Connersville, Would be Settled at Once

FATHER GOES TO HIS AID

Connersville, Ind., March 25.— Arthur Bever, a young Rush county farmer, is under arrest here charged with forgery. He is alleged to have forged a check for a small sum on Frank Hay, a bartender at the Mc-Farland hotel saloon. The amount of the check was not given out.

John W. Bever, father of Arthur Bever, and Chauncey Duncan, his attorney, went to Connersville this afternoon, being called there by the trouble related in the above dispatch. It was expected that the difficulty would be adjusted without much trouble and the charge against Bever dropped. Frank Hay formerly resided here.

DIVORCE MATTERS
TAKE COURT'S TIME

Judge Thomas M. Green Grants Divorce to Donald Webb Against Jennie Webb.

GWINNUP CASE DISMISSED

Divorce matters occupied the attention of Judge Thomas M. Green in circuit court today. The case of Donald Webb against Jennie Webb was heard and a divorce granted upon payment of the costs. He alleged cruel and inhuman treatment and accused her of being intimate with other men. The defendant defaulted.

Mrs. Mary I. Doyle was given the sum of $4 a week support money from William F. Doyle. The defendant was not in court. The divorce was granted some time ago and this was a hearing for support money.
He is said to reside in Newcastle.
The plaintiff asked for $5 a week,
but the court made it $4.

The divorce suit of Mrs. Minnie
B. Gwinnup against Dora Gwinnup was dismissed by Mrs. Gwinnup upon a written motion. Mr. and Mrs.
Gwinnup are living together again.

The funeral services of James Gray were conducted by the Rev. E.
B. Scofield at the late residence near Henderson Friday afternoon. Among those in attendance were Mr. and Mrs. Thomas A. Gray of Charlottesville and John Gray and son of Westfield.

DECLARES VILLA
HAS BEEN FOUND

General Gavira Says Bandit Chieftain is Hidden in Center of Santa Clara Canyon.

HE HAS 200 MEN WITH HIM

Military Officers Believe he has Escaped Trap, However—Bandits
Set Town on Fire.

(By United Press.)

El Paso, Texas, March 25.—General Gavira at Juarez stated to the United Press at noon today that American cavalry under Colonel Dodd had located Villa and his main force in the center of Santa Clara canyon. United States troops were close upon Villa's rear guard, according to Gavira.

Gavira's statement renewed hopes here that the pursuers might close upon the outlaw and bring the man hunt to a sudden, successful close.

Villa has 200 followers with him,
Gavira said.

The bandits were located about thirty miles from the western entrance of the canyon, which is a short distance east of Namiquita and in a wild district without roads or trails.

Villa has escaped the trap formed by combined American and Carranza forces near Namiquita. With a large number of his followers the outlaw was believed today to have reached the San Miguel country.
Military officials expressed this belief when reports of a battle between American forces and Villa could not be confirmed.

Villa has scattered his forces. A small number of his men may have been surrounded in the Namiquita district from which reports persistently come that the American expedition is closing in on bandits.

Another group of Villistas set fire to Janos, north of the American base
in Mexico.

Reports of Villistas again crossing the border into New Mexico and killing two American women and one man were unconfirmed and uncredited.

MEN SUFFERING
GREAT HARSHIPS

United States Troopers Subjected to Hot Blazing Days And Severe Cold Nights

NEWS FROM THE INTERIOR

By H. D. JACOBS

(U. P. Staff Correspondent)

With the American Army in Mexico, Field Headquarters, by wireless to Columbus, N. M., March 25.—
"This is the hard winter of 1916"
in the American army.

After more than a week of blazing hot days and cold nights, the cyclonic winds swept off the Sierra Madras to the west, carrying sleet, snow and sand and causing intense suffering among the members of the American expedition sent out to punish Villa.

The driven sands caused the most intense hardships though the men who shivered in the cold and winced under the biting wrath of the sleet storm.

Miles S. Cox ran a nail in his foot at his home Friday night and was unable to be at the Peoples Loan & Trust company, where he is employed, today.

Miles From Good Roads.

The farmers of Cook county, Ill., have adopted this good roads motto: "No farmer farther than four miles from a hard road."

It looks like a modest enough slogan. New England farmers, accustomed to good, solid highways within easy reach of nearly every farm, would pronounce it absurd that any road system should leave farms isolated by so great a stretch of undependable soft dirt roads. Many a western or southern community, however, would consider itself fortunate if the Cook county ideal should be realized.

Our country roads in general are a disgrace, and no mistake. And yet their condition isn't surprising, considering the newness of most of the country, the lack of road-making material in so many sections, and particularly the immense distances involved.

There are nearly 2,300,000 miles of public roads in the United States. In 1914, we spent $249,000,000 in improving them. Our total investment in roads runs into the billions. And yet the best we have been able to do, as a nation, up to last year, has been to provide a hard facing for about 11 per cent of our roads. The European countries that boast of their excellent highway don't spend more money on such than we do—they have incomparably less to take care of, and they have been at it much longer than we have. The United States, too, will have good roads everywhere eventually. The time will come when any community will consider it a disgrace to have any part of it as much as four miles from a hard road.

Fiction and Floods.

Oscar Wilde used to say that "nature is always imitating art." And it does look that way. Last fall, for example, one of the big magazines printed a fiction story about a rain-maker in the Southwest flooding out a town that had never had a heavy rainfall before. And now San Diego, Cal., appears to be obligated to pay $10,000 to a professional rain-maker who agreed to fill Morena dam for that sum—and who claims to have produced the goods. After he set up his shower factory and went to work, that whole region was flooded, and the dam was filled for the first time in its history.

Anyhow, it's evident that fiction has "nothing on" fact. The most absurd story ever imagined usually proves true sooner or later.

The war prophets were saying last year that the war would "set back social reform in Europe for a generation." But it isn't evident that there is going to be any reform in Europe for a generation. But it isn't evident that there is going to be any such effect. England has entered on a vast housing reform plan, calling for the expenditure of $100,000,000 for the erection of better workmen's homes in industrial centers. The belligerent countries may be much poorer after the war, but they are apparently going to distribute what wealth they have the more equitably, and take better care of the workers.

Indications are to the effect that Carranza is nearing the end of his rope. And ropes, you know, are proverbially short in Mexico.

Simplicity, they say, is to be the mode in feminine wearing apparel this summer. Such, too, was the case in the days of Mother Eve.

An European writer advocates the abolishment by law of the marriage relation as a means of increasing the population. It would!

With a salary of $670,000 a year, Charley Chaplin is a living example of the fact that even a fool strikes it rich once in awhile.

Just keep in touch with your neighbor, of course. The absorption of his ideas will serve to broaden your own.

If we keep right on rating this as a good place others will soon be thinking as we do. Give'er another boost!

It is possible, of course, that Pershing may shine in history as the man who didn't get Villa.

The fellow who seeks to kill two birds with one stone often finds that both victims are buzzards.

Tut, tut! Why try to smother a yawn? Just open your mouth and let it swell the breeze.

A wise man sees the handwriting on the wall. The fool sees only a blank.

Following the Flag in Mexico

In the opinion of the majority of American editors, including even those in Texas who are too near the danger zone to be easily deluded with false hopes, a strong note of optimism is found regarding the Mexican situation.

In THE LITERARY DIGEST for March 25th the leading article covers, in sweeping form, every shade of newspaper opinion on the most pressing problem that now confronts the American people. The article is well illustrated with scenes of the recent invasion by Villa and a helpful map of the Mexican border.

WHY not give your lad the same training?

"When I was a growing lad, and came upon many words in my reading that I did not understand, my mother, instead of giving me the definition when I applied to her, uniformly sent me to the dictionary to learn it, and in this way I gradually learned many things besides the meaning of the individual word in question—among other things, how to use a dictionary, and the great pleasure and advantage there might be in the use of the dictionary. Afterwards, when I went to the village school, my chief diversion, after lessons were learned and before they were recited, was in turning over the pages of the 'Unabridged' of those days. Now the most modern Unabridged—the NEW INTERNATIONAL—gives me a pleasure of the same sort. So far as my knowledge extends, it is at present the best of the one-volume dictionaries, and quite sufficient for all ordinary uses. Even those who possess the splendid dictionaries in several volumes will yet find it a great convenience to have this, which is so compact, so full, and so trustworthy as to leave, in most cases, little to be desired."—Albert S. Cook, Ph.D., LL.D., Professor of the English Language and Literature, Yale Univ. April 23, 1911.

HUNDRED LEADING HOOSIERS

Joseph A. Wright (con)

Governor Wright was a strong anti-bank man, and vetoed the free banking law passed during his term of office. But the legislature passed the act over his veto and the governor then tried to outlaw the banks by having the courts declare the law unconstitutional. In this he failed. During his term of office Indiana sent its block of stone to be placed in the Washington monument. Governor Wright dictated the inscription which it bears: "Indiana knows no East, no West, no North, no South; nothing but the Union." He exchanged official visits with Governor John J. Crittender of Kentucky, and did much to allay the sectional jealousy between these two states. In 1857 he was appointed minister to Prussia. In 1862 when Senator Bright was expelled from the United States senate, Governor Morton appointed ex-Governor Wright to serve out the term. President Lincoln appointed him United States commissioner to the Hamburg exposition in 1863, and President Johnson re-appointed him minister to Prussia in 1865. He died in 1895.

Strength and Power
Speed and Stability

IN THIS BIG, BEAUTIFUL CAR, and at a price that is well within the reach of the prudent buyer, you obtain all those essentials—and to a degree you have learned to expect only in cars made and guaranteed by the Reo Folk.

STRENGTH WITHOUT SUBSTANCE is unattainable—impossible. Power without strength in the chassis to hold that power—is useless as well as mischievous. Speed in a car that lacks strength inevitably spells high maintenance cost.

AND STABILITY, LONGEVITY, can only be obtained by a nice relation of power in the motor and strength in the chassis.

THE REO FOLK have been an exception to the rule in that they have never made of Extreme Lightness a fetish. Have never followed it to the extreme—the danger point.

REO CARS ARE LIGHT, BUT not light to the point of flimsiness. (Note that important distinction.)

In THEIR LONG EXPERIENCE they have found extreme lightness to be incompatible with longevity—lasting qualities and low maintenance cost.

WE MAINTAIN that no car of equal power to this Reo Six but made lighter, can possibly endure for as many years and cost as little from year to year to operate and to maintain.

“50 PER CENT OVERSIZE IN ALL VITAL PARTS”—the Reo Factor of Safety—necessarily calls for a few ounces more in those parts and a few (and only a few) pounds more in the total weight of the car. But—

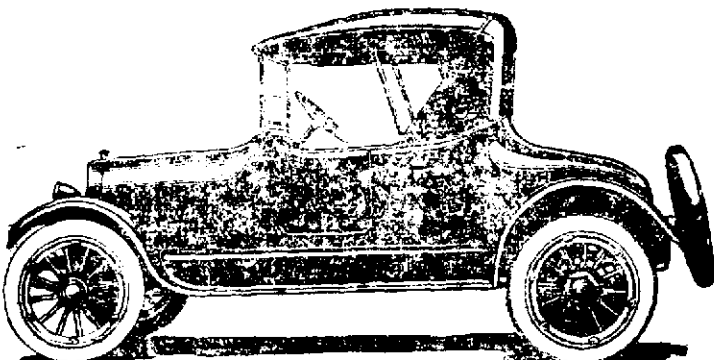

THE DIFFERENCE IN STABILITY, in dependability, in durability, and above all in cost of upkeep and repairs, is out of all proportion to the slight difference in weight between Reo cars and others.

THOSE BUYERS WHO ARE attracted by spectacular performances over brief periods do not select Reos. Those who desire dependability, and consider cost of upkeep, constitute the great and ever increasing Reo clientele.

but they evade the obligation of a spiritual sense.

“If we could have a record of those in hell, and how they came to be there, some would say wine-cup, some the vanities and vices of society, some the love of money, but would any say they had starved spiritually at their mother's knee? Too many parents depend upon the public education of their children to save their souls and do not exert the tender relations of the home. People do care, you wouldn't be here tonight unless you cared, but you should care 100 times as much. God is depending on you to lead someone to Jesus Christ. It is a pity for anyone to hide behind the frailties of the professed followers of Jesus Christ.”

Amusements

The Gem offers a double program tonight showing four reels of pictures. The first is a two reel drama entitled “The Wasp.” Vivian Rich is featured and it is said to be a thrilling drama. The second picture is a comedy “A Deal in Indians.” George Ovey is featured. The last is a comedy entitled “Billy Van Deusen's Campaign.” Monday night the feature picture “The Pitch O' Chance” will be shown.

The Princess will show a two reel comedy-drama “Angels Unaware” for the first picture tonight. Ruth Stonehouse is featured and her impersonation of Charley Chaplin is said to be one of the best parts of the picture. The second is a drama “The Lesser Evil.” Blanche Sweet, Edwin August and Mae Marsh are featured. The last is a comedy entitled “When Two Play a Game.” Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Drew are featured. Monday, matinee and night the feature picture “The Clue” will be shown in which Blanche Sweet is featured.

The Mystic will show the usual four reels tonight. The first is a two act drama, “Blow for Blow.” Ivan Christie and Mary Malatesta are featured. The second is a drama “Breaking the Shackles.” The last is a drama entitled “When Conscience Sleeps.” On Tuesday night the Mystic will show the feature picture, “Inspiration.” It is a daring romance of an artist's model and features Audrey Munson, the most beautiful woman in the world. She was selected as the model for the official statuette of the Panama-Pacific exposition.

CHAPLIN BELIEVES FUNNY
FILMS SHOULD BE LONG

He Can Not Only Give More Time to Work Out His Effects, But Can Also Produce the Same Financial Return Without Working so Often.

Chaplin's idea is that one of the old-style rough comedies gives absolutely no chance for real effects. When the paperhanger has spilled paste down the back of the dude and somebody has been pushed off into the lake, the comedy has been exhausted. Plays like “The Tramp” open up all kinds of chances for contrast—lights and shade. He does many things now because he believes “the public wants them so”—and for no other reason.

Chaplin also believes that scenarios will be longer. He is a great admirer of “The Birth of a Nation.” He saw that play nearly every week during its long run in Los Angeles. His idea is that comedies will also come to the point where one funny film provides a whole evening's entertainment. “Tillie's Punctured Romance” he believes an example of this tendency.

He has two reasons for wanting to put on longer plays. One is that it will give more time in which to carefully work out his effects. The greatest reason is that he can produce the same financial returns without appearing so often.

Chaplin is of the opinion that it is taking an awful chance with his popularity to be shown in a new comedy every week or so. We see Maude Adams at long intervals—once a year, perhaps, and we are eager to see her. But would we be so keen if we could see her in four or five different plays the same night in the same town?

As Chaplin says, this is a terrific test of popularity.

King Charlie.

In the meantime, however, his popularity continues to increase to a veritable craze. When Charlie Chaplin goes to a summer resort near Los Angeles, it is like the triumphant visit of a king.

It is an open secret that Chaplin doesn't expect to be in the pictures long.

“I want to make all the money I can,” he says. “Then, in a few years, I am going to quit. I am going to pass along and let some other fellow have the center of the stage. I have made a bigger hit than I ever thought possible in my wildest dreams. And I am much obliged to everyone for laughing. For the public is the entertainer's court of last appeal.”

That Charlie Chaplin is a born actor, entertainer, clown and buffoon, not only while posing before the camera, but from the time he rises in the morning till he goes to sleep at night—generally late at night—is the sum of the opinion of his colleagues at Niles, with whom he worked for months. Some of these actors and actresses, as is the way with stage folk, do not speak very highly of Chaplin's “art,” yet all of them recognize that there is some sort of mad genius in the little chap who has made the whole country laugh at his antics. As for Chaplin himself, he stoutly contends that it takes as much conscientious preparation for a comedy as for the so-called higher art.

Now for a few instances to prove the above verdict of his colleagues:

Five or six months ago, the Essanay company decided that Chaplin ought to have a madcap partner of the opposite sex to hurl through his dizzy series of utterly illogical exploits. Chaplin and his managers had the whole field of musical comedy, comic opera, comic dramas and burlesque. The golden megaphone of the Essanay company could summon any one of a thousand or two of sprightly young women with lots of stage experience, praised and petted in public—and funny!

“Let's just put an act on the paper,” suggested Chaplin, scratching his curly poll. “Let's get some new blood in the game.” The following morning there was a small personal advertisement in one of the San Francisco papers, offering a position in the “movies” to a young girl without previous stage experience. During the next week or two, Chaplin looked over more than a thousand fair applicants. The cat was out of the bag. The stage-struck young women of San Francisco knew that Chaplin was looking for a girl to play against him, and the competition became hysterical.

Picked a Winner.

Chaplin, unaided, selected one, Miss Edna Purviance, who did not know even the alphabet of the stage business.

She has made good. She has appeared in a number of reels with Chaplin, offering an excellent foil for him. There were some heartaches at Niles, but the work of the new film actress convinced both actors and Chaplin's employees that he knew something about the show business which they had never suspected in one so guileless.

“How the Dickens did he manage to do it?” asked one of the veteran comedians at Niles. “That job of picking a new woman is one of the tricks of the trade which ancient and honorable managers have spent scores of years in mastering.”

The selection of Miss Purviance might, of course, be explained as a lucky accident, a lottery chance. But then there is Dick Turpin, whom Chaplin selected for important parts in his reels. Turpin is almost as funny as Chaplin himself and divided honors with him in several film comedies. Here was another instance of Chaplin's astuteness. His ability to pick winners was further shown recently in the selection of Bud Jamieson, with whom the comedian recently became acquainted in San Francisco. Jamieson is big, fat, genial, jolly, and an excellent musician, but he had never been on the stage till Chaplin and his associates invited him to Niles, not for the purpose of entering the “movies,” but just to amuse the player folk out there! A sort of court-jester to the jester-royal.

Social Calendar

Musicale, with Miss Frances Frazee at 509 North Main street, in the afternoon.

Young Ladies Mission Circle, with life members at home of Deryl Case at 503 North Main street, at 7:30 p. m.

Coterie Club, with Mrs. C. M. George on Twelfth and Main streets, in the afternoon.

Miss Lucile Linn has been pledged to the Psi Chi Xi sorority.

Monday Bridge Club, with Mrs. Chauncey Duncan in North Perkins street.

The Rebekah lodge number will give a social in the Odd Fellows hall on April 6th.

The dinner-dance which was to have been held next week at the Social Club has been postponed for a week.

The Ladies Aid society of the St. Paul's M. E. church will be entertained on Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. William Malin, who will be assisted by Mrs. Link Gaffin and Mrs. Richard Abernathy.

CLASS PARTY

The members of the Bible class of the Baptist church had a social meeting last evening at the home of John Meredith in North Harrison street. About ten members of the class and the teacher, the Rev. S. G. Huntington were present to enjoy the evening together. Light refreshment were served at the close of the affair.

SUPPER A SUCCESS

With the news that a sum of $65 was made at the Penny supper given by the second division of the Pastor's Aid society of the Christian church last evening it goes without saying that the affair was a success, financially. Socially, it was successful, too, for all of the large number of guests enjoyed the bountiful supper and the gathering of persons that was assembled.

R. C. S. CLUB

A literary and musical program will entertain the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Newhouse of Glenwood, when they entertain the R. C. S. Club this evening. A varied program of numbers furnished by several of the sixteen members of the club has been planned for the affair. Each of these meetings has been a social pleasure as well as a literary treat and the one this evening promises to fulfill this reputation.

DEGREE WORK GIVEN

Rushville Rebekah Lodge number 132 at their meeting last evening conferred the degree upon a class of nineteen, before an audience of nearly two hundred. Out-of-town visitors were present from Homer, Midway, Arlington and Greensburg, more than thirty being present from the latter place. The guests were attracted by the reputation of the local staff for its brilliant degree work. Among the Greensburg guests were Mr. and Mrs. Will Ehrhardt and Mr. and Mrs. G. O. Barnard, who are prominent in the order. After the degree, a few short talks were given by the visitors, complimenting the local order very highly. The guests were then ushered into the dining room where light refreshments of ice-cream, cake and coffee were served.

DINNER PARTY

Miss Dorothy Sparks was hostess to eight of her girl friends this afternoon when she entertained the members of the T. O. G. Club at her home in North Main street. Playing and singing delighted the guests during the pleasant afternoon hours after which they were invited to the dining room where a delicious six o'clock dinner was served. The decorations were simple but effective on the prettily set table.

PLEASANT AFTERNOON

Another pleasant afternoon the members of the Embroidery Club were privileged to enjoy when they were the guests of Miss Mary Amos at her home in North Perkins street this afternoon. There were thirty guests, including the members and several invited guests to enjoy the afternoon of sewing and chatting together. With sweet peas, the rooms were made unusually fragrant for the afternoon and were reminders of spring as well. A delicious one-course luncheon was served to the guests near the close of the merry affair. Mrs. Mailey and Miss Connel of Comersville and Mrs. D. C. Green of Salt Lake City were among the invited guests.

SURPRISE PARTY

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Hunt were very pleasantly surprised at their pretty country home near Gings Monday evening, March 20th, the event being in honor of their eighteenth wedding anniversary. The guests brought refreshments which were served late in the evening. Games and music, furnished by Mr. Hinchman and Omer Bowles helped to amuse the guests during the evening. In the party which planned this successful surprise were Mr. and Mrs. William Hinchman and children, Enolia and Gayle, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Daubenspeck and daughters, Verril and Mary Ella, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Hinchman, Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Austin, Omer Bowles, Chase and Charles Jarrett and Lawrence Harmon.

LITERARY PROGRAM

Over a hundred people were in the audience that enjoyed the program given by the Literary society of the Orange high school in the school building last evening. The following program occupied the meeting:

Selection on graphophone.
Piano duet—Clarence and Dracina Crist.
Reading—Miss Mildred Beaver.
Vocal solo—Miss Florence Paxton.
Dialogue by four boys.
Recitation—Miss Nellie Henry.
Talk—Edgar Starr.
Vocal duet—the Misses Mary Houchins and Florence Paxton.
Recitation—Miss Vera Houchins.
Reading—Miss Edith George.
Vocal solo—Miss Nellie Henry.
Reading—Mrs. John Stone.

This meeting was the last meeting of the school year for the society. Equally good programs are anticipated, however, for the meeting of next year.

—Mr. and Mrs. Alva Junken of Henderson were shoppers here today.

THORNBERRY CLUB

Another in the series of parties being held by the Thornberry Club, was the one given by Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Hasty on Thursday evening. Rook, informal games and music were the delightful diversions for the merry company of guests. A palatable luncheon was served to the guests who were Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Hungerford, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Moore, Mr. and Mrs. John Shaw, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Weidner, Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Hungerford, Mr.

and Mrs. Claude Helligoss, the Misses Mildred Hungerford, Hazel Shaw, Ruth Moore, Thelma Weidner, Maxine Hungerford, Golda Shaw, Iva Enos, Bertha Halterman, Frances Thompson, Nellie Myers, Letha Hungerford, Deloris Hasty, Vivian Kemple, Alice Shaw, Ethel Hungerford, Gladys Hasty, Ida Redden and Edith Hungerford and Howard Hungerford, Foster Helligoss, Newton Halterman, Rella Alter, Harry Mull, Lot Redden, Watson Miller, Glen Hungerford, Herman Helligoss, Bert Redden, Robert Hasty, Ernest Halterman, Henry Mauzy, Frank Webb, Clarence Weidner, Paul Hungerford, and Cuban Downs.

CHILDREN'S PROGRAM

The Young Ladies Mission Circle of the Christian church has an interesting meeting in store for Monday night when they are entertained by the life members of the Missionary society at the home of Deryl Case in North Main street. The life members are Mary Elizabeth Waggoner, Mildred Boys and Deryl Case. The following program has been planned.

Bible Study—Miss Della Downey.
Prayer song by Mary Elizabeth Waggoner, Virginia Lucas, Mildred Boys, Viola Jay, Cyrus Yocum, Graham Pugh and Deryl Case.
Piano solo—Mildred Boys.
Sketch from India—Mrs. Russell Barringer.
Recitation—Donald Dean.
Vocal duet—"I Know a Little Girl" by Mary Elizabeth Waggoner and Viola Jay, accompanied by Mildred Boys.
Piano solo—Deryl Case.
Vocal solo—Graham Pugh.
Recitation—Cyrus Yocum.
Vocal solo—Mary Elizabeth Waggoner.
Piano solo—Virginia Lucas.
"The Chipmunk"—vocal solo—Viola Jay accompanied by Deryl Case.
Chorus, by children.
Benediction.

Mrs. Amanda Ward, 94, Dead in Indianapolis, Once Lived Here

The remains of Mrs. Amanda Ward, who died yesterday in Indianapolis, will be brought here Sunday afternoon for burial. Mrs. Ward formerly lived here and is remembered by many of the older residents. She was 96 years old and died at the home of her granddaughter, Mrs. Florence Swisher. Death was caused by senility. Mrs. Ward was the widow of the late Richard Ward and is survived by two sons Richard Ward, Jr. and William Hedges of Indianapolis.

MANILLA BEATS LONDON

Game Nearly Ends in Wrangle When London Protests

The basketball game at Shelbyville last night between Manilla and London came near ending at the end of the first half when Manilla insisted on playing Lawrence, a Columbus player. Manilla finally won by a score of 37 to 32. Under the agreement, it is stated that both teams were to use only their regular men and London protested at Lawrence participating in the game. London led at the end of the first period 23 to 11. The wrangle lasted several minutes and for a time London threatened to leave the floor. The game was played for the so-called championship of the Sixth district.

ROOM PROVES TOO SMALL

Seventy-Five Take Examination For Teacher's Licenses

A record attendance marked the second examination for teachers' licenses today. A total of seventy-five took the examination and Superintendent George was compelled to move to the Graham high school building as the examination room at the court house was too small to accommodate the crowd. At the January examination only forty took the test. This number was cut down on account of the weather. There was no examination in February. The examination today covered the first and second divisions, high school, supervisors and vocational subjects.

PAIGE
The Standard of Value and Quality

Now is the Time to Buy Your "Six-46"

Let us again urge you to place your order for a Fairfield "Six-46" as soon as you possibly can.

Don't wait too long—don't be too sure that you can buy to just as good advantage thirty or sixty days from now.

For—remember—there were three purchasers for each "Six-46" that we could turn out last year. And, up to the present time, there is every indication that this "sold out" condition will be repeated.

Then, also remember that the cost of manufacturing materials and labor is still soaring.

Already, several manufacturers have found it necessary to increase the list price of their cars, and more announcements of this kind are undoubtedly coming.

By early buying, we have done everything that we possibly could to protect ourselves and you. But in the face of a constantly rising market, we may be forced to increase prices proportionately.

From the present outlook there is no other alternative for we flatly refuse to compromise on the quality of our cars. We shall continue to use only the best materials—no matter how far the commodity prices may advance.

Of one thing you can be certain—the Paige "Six-46" will never cost less than $1295 this year. We absolutely guarantee this, but we can't undertake to guarantee against an advance.

Above all, please understand that this advertisement is written in a sincerely helpful spirit. It is by no means our purpose to "stampede" motor car buyers into early or ill-advised purchases.

We are merely telling you the facts—facts that can be readily substantiated by your banker or any man who is well informed in regard to industrial conditions.

We want you to drive a Paige, of course, but we have never found it necessary to resort to "expedients" in order to sell a single car of our production.

The "Six-46" now costs $1295. At that price, we honestly believe that it represents more actual dollar-for-dollar value than any other motor car on the market.

Wait too long—and you run the risk of paying more.

Place your order now, and you can rest assured that you will never regret the decision.

"COCK ROBIN" TO STAGE COME BACK

In This Instance it is the Susan B. Anthony Suffrage Amendment Being Brought to Life.

WOMEN ARE STILL CONFIDENT

Was Referred to Sub-Committee While Four Members Were Away—Bases of Contest.

(By United Press.)

Washington, March 25.—So far as Mother Goose relates, the original Cock Robin staged no come-back. Once dead, he remained decently in that condition. Moreover, his women friends made no effort to bring him back; nor did they pester the official graveyard custodians.

But the world has moved since Mother Goose lived, and the Cock Robin under present discussion though officially dead, is raising a considerable post-mortem hubbub and may be brought to life with a bang in Congress next Tuesday.

The present Cock Robin is the once-called Susan B. Anthony suffrage amendment, rechristened Cock Robin by Representative Carlin of Virginia. The graveyard attendants, tried and true if nervous, are the members of the House judiciary committee; and the pestiferous would-be revivers are the battling suffragists.

The trouble all started when Carlin walked out of a sub-committee which was to have reported the resolution of the whole committee, and announced.

"Well, we've killed Cock Robin."

He meant that the sub-committee had determined not to report the measure to the full committee, where one of those dog-gone aye-and-no votes would have to be taken.

However, here enter the lady revivers, the suffs. They found that the resolution had been referred to the sub-committee while four of their friends in the committee were away, and they began a campaign for votes to bring that measure back before the whole committee and a record roll-call.

They found a deplorable amount of ill-health, previous engagements, promises to friends, official business out of the city, and sickness in the family among the congressmen—all of which conspired to keep them away from committee meetings they would like to attend. And so:

"Good-morning Congressman," smiles a good looking young woman.

"How are you this morning?"

"Never better," beams Mr. Competent and Protective Male.

"Not sick at all?"

"Do I look it?"

"Your family in good health?"

"Yes, yes indeed."

"You don't expect to be called out of the city?"

"No."

"Well, I'm glad to know this.

There can't be a single reason then, can there, why you could not be able to vote tomorrow to bring Cock Robin before the whole committee?"

(Business of drawing out a notebook and pencil.)

"No, and I ain't scared to stay and vote, neither," answered some.

"Whew," say others, after their secretaries have rescued them from painfully obvious stalling, and the Lady Friend has left.

So far, H. H. Moss of Virginia has been called from a sick bed to vote; life for Dale of New York has been just one official-business-out-of-town after another and Graham of New York has developed a memory.

At eventide he promised the ladies he was for at least one more lease of life for Cock Robin; but when morning dawned remembered an agreement, made previously with other members not to force fellow congressmen to vote either on prohibition or suffrage this season. Sorry, but in a matter of honor what can a man do?

Williams of Illinois remembered for a while that it would be decidedly embarrassing for certain other members if they had to vote yes or

no. The suffragists finally brought him around.

So there lies Cock Robin; perhaps dead, perhaps simply in suspended animation and with the pulmotor squad manning the oxygen pumps; the grave-yard attendants, murmuring something about ghouls; and the resourcefulness of congressional minds being taxed to the limit. Next Tuesday will tell Cock Robin's tale.

ARMY MEASURE PASSED BY HOUSE

First Preparedness Bill, Providing Regular Army of 140,000 Men Wins Favor.

SENATE WILL VOTE SOON

Washington, March 25.—The administration army increase bill, first of the big preparedness measures to be passed upon by the House of Representatives, was approved by that body late yesterday afternoon by almost a unanimous vote, only the Socialist, Representative London of New York, and Representative Britten, Republican, of Illinois voting against the measure.

The House, sitting in committee of the whole, previously had gone over the measure, section by section, and denuded it of all provisions which, to the majority, appeared either to rob the bill of its "teeth," or to exaggerate the preparedness idea to a point beyond that contemplated by the President.

The most interesting section stricken out perhaps was that which provided for the establishment of a plant for extracting nitrogen from the air, so as to keep the United States, in event of war, from having to depend upon the imports of Chilean nitrate for the manufacture of ammunition.

What are you interested in when you go to buy an automobile? Is it 70 miles an hour over dead horse hill on high gear; 40 miles an hour from a standing start in ten seconds. A car with so many features that to read the advertisement of it seems more like reading a story in Arabian Nights than a present day creation. Or would you be more interested in how much comfort is built in. And that other item—Cost of maintenance, tire mileage, gasoline consumption, garage bills, those things that vitally effect the pocketbook, in which everyone is interested and about which so little is said.

Will they give me any tangible evidence that I will get the kind of service that I feel I have a right to expect? Proof of the pudding is chewing the bag. Give us a chance to show you what has been done by cars we represent, then draw your own conclusions.

NATIONAL FLOWER SHOW IS OPENED

Rich Prizes Adds to Attraction at Big Philadelphia—Fine Collection Shown.

FLORISTS BACK EXHIBITION

(By United Press.)

Philadelphia, March 25.—The Fourth National Flower Show opened here today. When the doors of Convention Hall swung wide, the public gazed upon one of the greatest collections of new and rare flowers and plants ever gathered together in America. Hundreds of exhibits of rare orchids, new roses and carnations, and the finest specimens of every sort in the horticultural and floral world from private estates and commercial and amateur growers were there.

Rich prizes, which now total nearly $25,000, are the magnet that brought the priceless specimens here. The flower show is international in scope, for by its awards the reputations of the new creations are established all over the world.

In connection with the show the Garden Clubs of America will hold their convention. This even has brought many delegates from all sections of the country.

The National Flower Show is managed by the Society of American Florists and Ornamental Horticulturists. It is staged every three years and has been held in Boston, New York and Chicago.

REFINED SHOES FOR WOMEN

We have considered the women whose purse will not permit the purchase of different styles in a season. Shoes for every occasion is a feature with us for Spring. One pair of shoes may serve both for home wear or for dress occasion.

Fashion requires boots with the new dresses. We are showing black kid boots, with 8 and 9 inch tops which meet the requirements of Dame Fashion for Spring.

"Styleful but never uncomfortable" is true of our shoes. Our black vici kid shoes in button and lace will appeal to many. We have perfected lasts, patterns and heels, and assure perfect fit and comfort to young and old.

The shoes shown here are high class merchandise. You will like their looks, the way they fit and the satisfaction they will give you. Only give us a chance to show you. Some of the very best makes comprise our stock.

White Kid Spats

High top white kid spats are the very latest addition to fashionable footwear. Let us show you our spats which are guaranteed to be made from Genuine Chrome Tanned White Leather, can be washed with soap and water, also ironed.

THE MAUZY CO.

Super Six

We do not at any time resort to unfair methods in selling our car. We simply ask the privilege of making a favorable comparison to any car on the market and then we are positive in our beliefs that the tangible qualities of the SUPER SIX will stand out most prominently.

All Records Broken

100 miles in 80 minutes 21.4 seconds, averaging 74.67 miles per hour with driver and passengers. 70.74 miles in one hour carrying 5 passengers with top and wind shield up.

From standing start to 50 miles per hour in 16.2 seconds.

Over 70 miles per hour maintained for 1350 miles without discoverable wear on any part.

All the above HUDSON records were made with the same stock car, using the same motor at Sheepshead Bay Speedway in November under American Automobile Association supervision.

We uphold the high standard of automobile salesmanship. Our method of selling the SUPER SIX is to make a practical demonstration and then we feel we have accomplished our purpose. We do not then fear results for the SUPER SIX will speak for itself, still we feel all other cars manufactured today well worth the money, but we feel the SUPER SIX in a class by itself, and know of no other car on the market equal to it selling at the same price.

WHY BUY A SIX?

The Six Cylinder is Theoretically almost perfect. Six cylinders is the smallest number of cylinders that will produce continuous power in a gasoline motor. No motor with less than six cylinders will do this.

STAGE IS SET FOR BIG FIGHT

Everything is in Readiness For Ten Round Bout Between Willard and Moran.

RECORD CROWD PROMISED

Generally Concealed That Dope Favors Willard Although Moran Has a Chance

BY THE SPORT SEER.

(Written for United Press.)

New York, March 25.—The scene is set in Madison Square Garden. With almost reverent awe the ring side funkeys have tested the ropes, jarred the floors for possible flaws and burnished the sacred water buckets.

Jess Willard and Frank Moran meet tonight. The 10-round bout between the giants of the ring has all New York, a station of some few hundred souls, tingling with expectancy.

A considerable outside section of the so-called civilized world also is straining its ears for ringside tidings. Charley White, referee of the costliest 10-round tussle ever planned, has his counter in trim. He is ready to toll ten over either gladiator with almost brutal impartiality. Willard will send full many a member of the clan Moran supperless to bed for nights and nights to some if he stops the blonde from Pittsburgh in the evening shadows.

Those who saw Moran beat Jim Coffey over the knockout course twice in the same ring were so strongly impressed with his haymaking right that they plunged even before Big Jess bestowed his bulk on Broadway. Later they felt tremors about the bank-roll and these tremors have become acute pains as the big battle draws near.

Willard is powerful long on size and strength and it is inconceivable to many persons that anything less than a Baldwin runabout can carry a kick of sufficient force to bounce him into dreamland. It ought to be a real fight. Moran has nothing to gain by stalling 10 rounds with Willard. He could have gone on in New York obtaining fairly corrupt purses for fighting mediocre maulers had he not chosen to take on Willard. Now that he has done so the road to fabulous wealth is clear, except for Jess Willard.

All Moran has to do is flatten the Kansas giant. He opines it's a man-sized undertaking but claims he is the man to do it.

Willard himself stands higher than Mister Woolworth's sizeable shanty with most of the fans of the country. But if he pulls the old one-two-three-kick on the Broadway bouncers he will find himself flat on his well-known back so far as desirable matches are concerned.

The fans are putting a lot of faith in the big boy in tonight's go and he will have to deliver according to the invoice or go down in pugilistic history as the biggest article of gorgonzola ever shown.

Moran's boxing ability is fairly well known. Willard's is a mysterious quantity. Jess boxed like an amateur with a broken arm in his bouts here in the harrowing ham-and-egg days and flashed up as a master of Queensbury tactics against Jack Johnson.

When that gloomy gent measured his longitude along the floor at Havana, Jess was hailed as rather some boxer. He appears in his training bout to have learned a whole library of tricks and most valuable of them is that of holding his opponent's elbows to keep the other gent away.

Willard gets the biggest purse ever offered for a ten-round bout, $47,500 being the stipend. Moran's purse of $20,000 with a sizeable bit for liniment and other training expenses, is the largest ever offered any challenger for any kind of a bout, according to sport statisticians.

For that money the boys ought to put up quite a tussle this evening.

Champion Sluggers Attract Attention in Game at Dallas.

(By United Press.)

Dallas, Tex., March 25.—Every fan in the country had his eyes on this city today. The New York Giants and Detroit Tigers opened a two-game exhibition series, and incidentally provided the means for one of the most interesting events in baseball, the first meeting of Ty Cobb and Benny Kauff in actual play. After the final game tomorrow, dopesters will have something definite with which to compare the two great luminaries. Members of both clubs and visiting newspapermen will be entertained at a smoker tonight by the Newspaper club.

BIG ATHLETIC MEET TONIGHT

Missouri Association Stages Carnival—Many Representatives Entered.

SPECIAL EVENTS PLANNED

(By United Press.)

St. Louis, Mo., March 25.—What promises to be the biggest athletic meet in the West in years is scheduled for tonight when more than two hundred athletes toe their marks in the Missouri Athletic Association indoor carnival at the Coliseum.

Athletes from Cornell, Chicago, Pennsylvania, Illinois, Wisconsin, Notre Dame and all the Missouri Valley Conference colleges are entered. Among the athletic clubs with big entry lists are the Chicago A. A., Illinois A. C., of Chicago and the Kansas City A. C. About fifty Illinois and Missouri high schools will be represented in the various events.

In addition to the usual field and track events, a special "440" between Ted Meredith of Pennsylvania and Dismond, Chicago University's dusky speed demon, has been arranged. In a special fifty yard dash Loomis, the Chicago streak, will lineup against Mahl, St. Louis' fastest dasher. Teams from Cornell and Pennsylvania will clash in an all-American relay championship.

Thin Women Surprised

And one day there comes to most of us the conviction that we, too, must have help—help that rebuilds, restores, replaces the nervous energy that has been so recklessly expended.

It is then that the kindly, tonic influence of Tonaline is appreciated. For after all, that need of help is often but the nerves' need of nourishment.

And when Tonaline brings to the starved cells and tissues the very foods they hunger for, in just the form that is most easily taken up, it is not long before relief comes.

We are receiving letters daily from grateful people telling how Tonaline has reconstructed cell and tissue, enriched the blood, produced keener appetite and better slumber and infused the whole system with new vigor.

Prof. B. writes: "I have gained 50 pounds since taking Tonaline and am now at just the weight I desired to be. I can recommend Tonaline to any thin person."

For women who can never appear stylish in anything they wear because of their thinness this remarkable treatment may prove a revelation. It is a beauty maker as well as a form builder and nerve strengthener.

Stomach Trouble Solved

Most stomach troubles are not diseases. The stomach is simply weak. Tired out. The right kind of a tonic is what is needed. A few meals, well digested, will furnish natural strength. That is what a tonic will do for you. It will start the stomach going right. Then the stomach will take care of itself.

COUNTY HAS A GOOD RECORD

Per Cent of Wards Sent to State Institutions is Small, According to Miss Alta Bridges

AGENT OF THE STATE BOARD Miss Bridges Concludes Visit in County Examining Condition of Wards in Private Homes

Miss Alta Bridges, agent of the board of state charities, departed today after spending several days in Rush county visiting wards of the state board who are in private homes of the county. The per cent of wards being cared for in this county and sent from the county for homes for delinquent, neglected and abandoned children is very small as compared to other counties, according to Miss Bridges, who explained the system fully.

The various homes for children of the class mentioned are supported by the state and the expense of forty cents a child per day is paid by the county from which the child is sent. Of course, when the child is placed in a private home, the county is relieved of that expense.

Miss Bridges said that only 33

DRINK HOT WATER BEFORE BREAKFAST

Says you really feel clean, sweet and fresh inside, and are seldom ill.

If you are accustomed to wake up with a coated tongue, foul breath or a dull, dizzy headache; or, if your meals sour and turn into gas and acids, you have a real surprise awaiting you.

To-morrow morning, immediately upon arising, drink a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it. This is intended to first neutralize and then wash out of your stomach, liver, kidneys and thirty feet of intestines all the indigestible waste, poisons, sour bile and toxins, thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal. Those subject to sick headaches, backache, bilious attacks, constipation or any form of stomach trouble, are urged to get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from the drug store and begin enjoying this morning inside-bath. It is said that men and women who try this become enthusiastic and keep it up daily. It is a splendid health measure for it is more important to keep clean and pure on the inside than on the outside, because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, causing disease, while the bowel pores do.

The principle of bathing inside is not new, as millions of people practice it. Just as hot water and soap cleanse, purify and freshen the skin, so hot water and a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate act on the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels. Limestone phosphate is an inexpensive white powder and almost tasteless.

out of the 92 counties in the state operate their own homes for delinquents and abandoned and neglected children. This is due to the fact that the number of such children from the smaller counties is so small that the counties find it cheaper to send them to the state homes.

Rush and Henry counties found this to be true by experience. It will be remembered that there was once such a home at Spiceland which was supported by Henry and Rush counties. A few years ago they abandoned it because the number of children diminished to such an extent that the matroness of the home could not afford to care for the children as cheaply as the state homes.

Miss Bridges said that the age of supervision is from birth to eighteen years. The board of children's guardians, composed of six persons, three of whom must be women, and appointed by the judge of the circuit court, oversee the work in the counties. Members of the board serve without pay. They report to the judge of the court cases of children who are improperly fed, who are immoral or have a bad home life. The judge may make children wards of the state or they may become wards on action of their parents. In case parents ask that their children be sent to the state homes, they must pay the support of forty cents a day.

Miss Bridges said that there are two thousand in state homes and three thousand in private homes.

Miss Bridges explained that the children who are wards of the state might be taken into private homes without being adopted. As long as they are not adopted, the state retains supervision over them and their agents, such as Miss Bridges is, visit the homes regularly to see that the children are being properly clothed and fed. When the children are adopted, they cease to be wards of the state. So long as they are wards, the board of state charities keeps a complete record of every child by the use of a card index system.

Miss Bridges urged the attendance of Rush county people at the annual national conference of charities and corrections which will be held in Indianapolis May 10 to 17. All sessions will be held at Tomlinson hall. There will be many round table talks in connection with the conference for charity workers to exchange ideas.

LETTERS ON BALLOON "VOTE FOR WATSON"

One Found in Wayne County Bore Words Saying Linus Meredith Would Pay Finder $10

WATSON'S MANAGER THERE

A spent gas-filled toy balloon, believed to have been sent up at Rushville during the state-wide primary campaign, and bearing a card offering $10 reward is presented to Linus P. Meredith, of this, city was found, by a farmer, living north of the city, according to the story he related to the police over the telephone says the Richmond Item. On the card was written with a typewriter the following:

"If finder of this balloon or card will present same to Linus P. Meredith, of Richmond, $10 reward will be paid.

"VOTE FOR WATSON."

The latter phrase was underscored. The finder, whose identity the police did not reveal, called up the police to learn if they had heard of any other balloons being found. "No, I have not, but I will bet you will have to drug Meredith to get the ten-spot," replied the police officer.

"Don't you worry about me getting the money," replied the finder. "This offer looks good to me."

The farmer said he had happened upon the balloon accidentally. It was green in color and evidently had sprung a leak. The card was in good shape, although rain specked.

C. OF C. WORKS FOR MORE CONVENTIONS

Indianapolis Commercial Body Wants Fund With Which to Carry on This Work.

CLAIMS STATE IS BENEFITED

(By United Press.)

Indianapolis, Ind., March 25.—The Indianapolis Chamber of Commerce is after more conventions for Indianapolis. It wants more conventions, larger conventions, and more conventions of a national character. To attain this end it is campaigning for a fund which would provide $15,000 a year for three years, as against $4,200 which is the amount now at the disposal of the convention division annually.

Indianapolis must meet keen competition in a systematic way to hold its own in spite of what the Chamber of Commerce terms its "exceptional location, transportation advantages and local convention facilities."

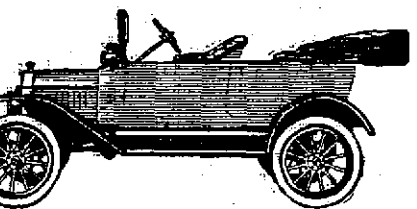

The C. of C. claims it will be a benefit to the state to have big conventions come to this city.

By three o'clock water was flowing down Main and Perkins streets in the business part of Rushville at a terrific rate.

That flood cost the life of one man, although there was really no occasion for wasting it. James Hubbard, a colored horse trainer, attempted to drive to Wade Sherman's shop in South Perkins street near the mill race. When near the shop, the horse got in deep water and could not be controlled. The strong current carried the horse and vehicle to the mill race bank. Wade Sherman leaped from the buggy and swam to dry land, but Hubbard remained with the horse. When the animal stopped, he tried to swim out of the flood water but he went down. His body was later recovered. The horse was loosened from the buggy and escaped drowning.

There were many thrilling rescues during that day—Tuesday, March 25—but none compared to the interest that centered in the plight of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Huntington, an old and feeble couple who were marooned in their home in Flatrock bottom and near Moscow. They were rescued on Wednesday morning, March 26, at five o'clock after several men imperiled their lives in an effort to save the lives of Mr. and Mrs. Huntington. Many tales of heroism came from the scene of the rescue. The current was so swift that the Huntington home could not be reached in a row boat. Futile attempts were made without avail.

Among the Milroy men who risked their lives to save the aged couple were Dr. S. G. Houghland, the Rev. Paul Stewart, Joe Mills, Pete Pool, Mit Achres, Noah Colsher and Luther Harcourt. Mr. Achres and the Rev. Mr. Stewart suffered severely from exposure and it was feared for some time that their condition might be critical. In repeated attempts to reach the marooned people, some of the rescuers themselves were marooned on a pile of debris in the center of the current that threatened to float down stream any minute. The Rev. Mr. Stewart lashed himself to the limb of a tree with his suspenders for a long period before

anyone could reach him in a row boat. His hands were paralyzed by the cold and the suspenders were his only hope of safety.

That flood cost Rush county close to $200,000 in damaged roads and bridges. No one will ever know how much it cost individuals. The loss was variously estimated at from $500,000 to $1,000,000.

The flood was felt in almost all parts of the city. The people in the northwestern section were isolated by Hodges branch, which goes on a rampage ever time Flatrock does. The branch began rising on Monday evening preceding the big deluge and many furniture factory workmen living in other parts of the city had difficulty in reaching their homes. Several school children had to remain at the homes of friends on Monday night.

The court house lawn was the only dry spot in the business part of Rushville. Wednesday following the flood was devoted to cleaning although the water had not fully receded at that time.

Wire communications, mail and traffic were demoralized. It was two days before a pack of mail was received or sent from the Rushville postoffice. Not a mail carrier was able to cover his route on Tuesday, the 25th.

No trains came into Rushville for two or three days, with the exception of the L. E. & W. which plies between here and Newcastle. Some Indianapolis newspapers were received by way of Newcastle a couple of days late. The first news from Indianapolis came from a party of I. & C. workmen who came through on a handcar from the junction, reaching here Tuesday evening.

Not the least important feature of the big flood was the fear entertained by local people for relatives in the flooded districts. Several had friends and relatives in Dayton, Piqua and Hamilton, three Ohio cities that were hard hit by the high water. Gradually the news crept in of conditions elsewhere. The "first survivor" stories began to break loose. There never was such a story for local newspaper men to handle. Rumors, all greatly exaggerated, of course, were thick. Ol Walton came in from Peru, Ind., with a thrilling story of the damage done there and Ben French was not far behind him with a story of the horrible plight of Piqua. Soon came news of the Dayton flood and the thrilling rescue of Clarence Dillon and his five children from their homes as it floated down the river. Mrs. Dillon died of fright. Axel VanSycle was the first local person to come out of the flood district of Indianapolis, and he, too, had a wild tale of conditions there.

After the flood subsided, Rushville bent her energies to scrubbing up and helping those less fortunate cities who had suffered more than she. Mayor Bebout decreed a clean-up day and it was never entered in to more wholeheartedly than on that occasion. Rushville contributed a large sum of money and four automobiles loaded with bedclothing went to survivors of the Brookville flood. Several lives were lost there and half of Brookville was washed away.

The flood of 1913 will be the basis of many harrowing tales the grandfathers of the future will tell the wide-eyed little ones, but there is not a person who passed through it that cares for a repetition of the experience.

"A Pair of Silk Stockings," which Windthrop Ames presents at the Shubert Murat Theatre for one week beginning Monday, April 3d, with matinee Wednesday and Saturday, is one of these charmingly done and refreshingly light comedies which Mr. Ames knows so well how to do. One always expects him to produce the comedy of manners rather than the tragedy of reality. And he never disappoints.

"A Pair of Silk Stockings" is the work of Mr. Cyril Harcourt, the English playwright, novelist and actor and it will be performed in this city by a notable company including Mr. Sothern, the distinguished English actor-manager, who by the way is a brother of our own Edward H. Sothern. The action of the play revolves in the home of English gentlemen—that of Sir John Gower and his good lady, and it furnishes much material for amusing scenes and smart, witty dialogue.

In some mysterious manner a pair of silk stockings belonging to a charming young lady become the center of interest to a lot of well-bred people who make it their business to trace the singular ramifications of my lady's hosiery. Needless to say, the stockings are found, the lady vindicated and reconciled to her husband. But not until after many interesting things are enacted—some scenes causing the audience to sit tight and wonder just how far the next incident will lead them.

Mr. Hector Trumbull, the dramatic critic of the New York Tribune in reviewing the play on the opening night of its all season's run at Mr. Ames' exclusive Little Theatre in that city last year gave an excellent idea of the impression created by the play in the following: "Not only has the playwright drawn a faithful and engaging picture of that much maligned type, the English gentleman, but he has handled a delicate situation with such a brave show of disarming British wholesomeness, that our familiar Frenchy, bedridden farces appear sad stuff in comparison. Articles of women's attire, generally completely concealed in comedy and vulgarly flaunted in farce, are disclosed to a delightful audience, fulfilling a purpose both utilitarian and artistic."

Seats for this attraction can be secured through the Shubert Murat local representative, Hargrove & Mullin.

QUALITY COUNTS

more in painting than almost anything else about a building. Cheap paint and cheap labor mean a cracking and a scaling surface in a short time, that costs very much more to repaint than it ought. Cheap painting means inadequate protection against the weather. Can you afford to lessen the life of your building by seeking cheapness as the main thing? When we do the painting we use the best materials; employ competent labor and PAINT TO STAY PAINTED. It costs only a little more; but there's a reason.
